50-Min. Car Chase Ends With Arrest Of Oakland Man

A nearly hour-long chase through southern Garrett County ended in the arrest of an Oakland man last Thursday evening by Garrett County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies attempted to make a traffic stop on a 1993 Chevy four-door on Fingerboard Road for traffic violations. Michael Dewayne Moreland, 24, the driver of the vehicle, would not stop and a chase ensued.

Moreland led deputies through the southern end of the county, covering approximately 25 miles in about 50 minutes. A patrol vehicle was struck by Moreland's vehicle on Silver Knob Road before he wrecked his vehicle, and the chase came to an end on Steyer Gorman Road.

Moreland was placed under arrest and transported to Garrett County Memorial Hospital, where he was treated and released to GCSO custody. He was Continued on Page A-12

Five Arrested By Task Force On CDS Charges

The Garrett County Narcotics Task Force made several arrests in the last week for controlled dangerous substance violations.

A traffic stop was conducted on a 1996 Ford along Old Crellin Road for traffic violations. A positive K-9 alert during the stop led to the search of the vehicle and its three occupants.

The search recovered a quantity of marijuana, Xanax, Vicodin, and CDS paraphernalia. The driver, Larry Allen Coddington, 20, and both occupants, Jonathan Wesley Burns, 18, and Archie Herbert Coddington, were all arrested and charged with the CDS offenses.

Burns was charged with possession of marijuana, possession of CDS paraphernalia, possession of Xanax and possession of Vicodin. Larry Coddington was charged with possession of marijuana and possession of CDS paraphernalia. Both he and Burns were Continued on Page A-4

Local Firefighters Respond To Major Blaze In Frostburg

Garrett County volunteers were among some 120 firefighters who responded to a multi-alarm fire that destroyed one building and damaged another in downtown Frostburg early Tuesday.

The 12:16 a.m. fire at 1 W. Main Street destroyed a three-story structure housing Gianni's Pizza. Most of the fire personnel responding were from Allegany and Garrett counties, but there was also assistance from West Virginia and Pennsylvania departments, according to a release by the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office.

Units and volunteers from the Grantsville, Eastern Garrett, Bittering, and Oakland departments were among those that responded.

An adjoining building housing Crestmont Gentlemen's Apparel sustained water and heat damage. Twenty people from a nearby hotel/apartment building were evacuated as a precaution.

The Red Cross was at the scene assisting the displaced people.

The fire has caused an estimated $300,000 in damages to the building. Two firefighters sustained minor injuries battling the fire. They were treated and released from a local hospital.

Two Juveniles Severely Injured In ATV Accident

Two Grantsville juveniles were injured in a four-wheeler accident on Tuesday, according to Maryland State Police.

The operator of the ATV, a 17-year-old female, was taken to Cumberland Memorial Hospital by Northern Rescue Squad. The passenger, a 10-year-old female, reportedly received "incapacitating" injuries and was flown to Cumberland Memorial by the MSP medevac helicopter and then on to Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, W.Va.

According to police reports, the ATV was driven into a ditch on private land, which caused the operator and passenger to be ejected. Grantsville Fire Department also responded to the scene.

Kitzmiller Man Arrested On Sex Offense Charges

Detectives with the Garrett County Sheriff's Office arrested a Kitzmiller man on child abuse and sex offense charges stemming from two separate incidents that reportedly occurred between April and May of this year.

An investigation was initiated when the suspect's 15-year-old stepdaughter came forward with a complaint. Investigation revealed further evidence that led to an arrest warrant for the 41-year-old suspect. He turned himself in and was placed under arrest by sheriff's detectives.

He is charged with two counts of fourth degree sex offense, two counts of second degree assault, and one count of child sexual abuse.

The suspect was taken before a court commissioner and later released on $10,000 unsecured bond.

The name of the suspect is being withheld to protect the identity of the victim.

Concerns Voiced About Proposed Casselman Mine

A meeting was held on Friday, May 22, at Grantsville Elementary School for citizens interested in learning more about the Casselman Basin Clean Coal Project, a deep mine proposed by Maryland Energy Resources Corporation (MER) LLC in the Casselman Valley near Grantsville.

About 15 people attended the meeting, which was led by Steven C. Putman, wildlife conservation officer for the Patuxent Conservation Corps.

"This is about making a sound judgment, and we want to keep you informed," he said. "The hearings with the Bureau of Mines left people with nothing in their hands. I want to give information so people can decide."

The Patuxent Conservation Corps owns 48 acres beside the proposed mine site. The land parcel has a perpetual environmental easement through the Maryland Department of Natural Resources.

Putman noted that the environmental concerns of the proposed mine include the fact that it would be located too close to the Casselman River, and is on a very steep slope.

"I'm not against coal mining, but I am against irresponsible design," he noted.

Another concern is the hellbender, a large salamander which is thought to live in the Casselman River. The hellbender has been classified as an endangered species in Maryland, Missouri, Illinois, and Indiana.

Other issues include traversing under the Casselman River and the possibility of a tunnel perforation, a steep

Bishoff To Serve As Interim Pres. Of GC Chamber

The Garrett County Chamber of Commerce has appointed Joyce Bishoff as interim president until a permanent replacement is found for outgoing president Charlie Ross.

Bishoff will assume duties on June 1, working closely with Ross to ensure a seamless transition in the daily operations of the chamber office. Ross recently announced his departure from his current position to pursue opportunities in chamber of commerce and economic development work in the Greater Susquehanna Valley area of Pennsylvania.

"It has been a pleasure working closely with Charlie during my time as chairperson of the chamber board," Bishoff stated.

Bishoff has more than 40 years of experience as a local dairy farmer and small business owner, as well as lifelong resident of Garrett County. She has been an active member of the chamber board for four years, recently maintaining its highest position as chairperson.

Bishoff has been heavily involved in the community, serving as past chairperson for the Garrett County Memorial Hospital board of governors, treasurer of the Maryland Hospital Association, member of the Garrett County Economic Development Corp., and founding member of the Barn Quilt Association and the Garrett-Preston Rural Development Coalition.

Bishoff noted that she's excited to serve as interim president and continue to meet the needs of the business and tourism community in Garrett County.

GC Commissioners Asked To Help Fund G'ville Visitors Center Project

The Garrett County commissioners heard an update report on Tuesday about the Chamber of Commerce's proposed Grantsville visitors welcome center. Garrett County Chamber of Commerce president Charlie Ross asked the commissioners to fund a portion of that project and reviewed the timeline of the initiative.

About six years ago, Ross said, the chamber began building "tourism infrastructure" through a series of grants. The funding has enabled the organization to install information kiosks, conduct a tourism survey, work on heritage certifications, and more.

"Those nine grants, strung together like a string of beads, have been very, very good for us," Ross said. "And we're about to put on the last bead for the final project."

That project involves establishing a visitors center in the Stanton's Mill granary, a small building that was used to store grain before it was ground into flour at the mill. The granary is located along Rt. 40 near Stanton's Mill, Penn Alps Restaurant, Spruce Forest Artisan Village, and the historic Casselman River stone bridge. The chamber hopes to open the center this summer.

Ross said the chamber has been working on its own for four years to get the paperwork ready for the new center.

The president indicated it is important to have another welcome center because a new television advertising campaign has generated much interest in Garrett County. The chamber and its members recently spent $157,000 to promote the county and its businesses on WTAE-TV in Pittsburgh, Pa. As a result, the chamber now has twice as many first-time visitors to its web site as it did before the campaign began, according to Ross.

The chamber tried several years ago to get funding for the Grantsville center through a State Highway Administration enhancement program. But the proposal was not approved. Ross noted that the grant was written before he became chamber president.

"I picked it up and said there's got to be something we can do to take advantage of this unique location on the National Road," Ross said about the granary project.

He said it is only 8/10ths Continued on Page A-4

Woman Charged With Intent To Distribute Heroin

An Oakland woman was arrested by the Narcotics Task Force last Thursday after a traffic stop led to a search of her vehicle.

Heather Renee Nazelrod, 21, was stopped along Oakland Drive in a 2000 Dodge Neon. A positive K-9 alert warranted a search of the vehicle, which revealed a quantity of heroin, marijuana, and paraphernalia. Nazelrod was arrested for the controlled dangerous substance offense. The 2000 Dodge Neon and $82 in U.S. currency were also seized.

She is charged with possession with intent to distribute heroin, possession of marijuana, and possession of CDS paraphernalia.

She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

ADOLESCENT BEAR MAKES DASH THROUGH MTN. LAKE PARK - While black bear sightings are somewhat common in Garrett County, they still provide a thrill to most who witness them, and several people watched this young bear make his way through Mtn. Lake Park on Sunday around noon. Traffic slowed, people came out with cameras, and the bear made himself (or herself...) very available for viewing and photos. As charming as black bears can be, persons are always reminded that they are wild animals and may behave in an erratic and possibly aggressive manner, especially when cornered. Persons are also reminded to never lure a bear with food, and that a mother bear with cubs can be exceedingly dangerous. Photo by Lori Dixon.

"It's being reviewed by at least one private industry concern," Ross said about the plan. "We hope to have it reviewed by a couple of others."

He said privately run tours, therefore, could begin as early as this summer. Ross noted that the chamber has everything ready to advertise for the granary construction work now.

But the ARC grant requires a $40,000 local matching grant. Ross asked the commissioners to allocate the funding for the project. He presented the officials with a proposal of how the funding would be spent and a copy of the grant application.

Commissioner Fred Holiday asked Ross where the money would come from to finish the inside of the granary. The chamber was advised by an SHA official to submit another application for an enhancement program grant, Ross said.

Commissioner Ernie Gregg wondered when the ARC grant application is due. Ross indicated there is no specific deadline, but the sooner the chamber receives the funding, the sooner it can advertise for the construction work, get the work completed, and book tours.

Commission chair Denny Glatfelter asked Ross if the commissioners could have a week or two to allow Financial Services director Wendy Yoder time to "see what's left in this year's budget?" Ross said there was no problem with that.

The president also noted that the granary center project ties in with what the chamber has done in other communities, such as installing information kiosks at the Kitzmiller Company Store and Oakland Train Station. The kiosk that is currently located inside Penn Alps Restaurant would be moved to the granary visitors center.

"So, we've spread tourism throughout the county, which has been our objective all along," Ross said.

The president said his meeting with the commissioners on Tuesday would most likely be his last formal one with them. Ross has been appointed president of the Greater Susquehanna Valley Chamber of Commerce, headquartered in Shamokin Dam, Pa. He begins his new position in mid-June.

Ross, a Garrett County native, has been president of the local chamber since 2002. Joyce Bishoff has been appointed interim president of the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce.

Real Estate Facts by...

EVALUATING AN APPRAISAL

All of us often turn to professionals when we need critical services performed or important guidance offered. Of course, the buying and selling of property is one such example, and the selection of a representative should be pursued carefully with interviews and research.

The same applies when choosing another professional who is crucial to the real estate transaction - the appraiser. But who orders the appraisal? Most often, it is the lender, who uses the report to confirm a property's value before approving financing. Sometimes, either the buyer or the seller will order an appraisal in order to secure an independent opinion of said value.

If you hire an appraiser, be sure he or she is licensed and certified. Most states provide those qualifications through an appraisal board, and you can also refer to the federal Appraisal Subcommittee's website at www.asc.gov, although only current - not past - disciplinary actions are listed there.

Once you've ordered an appraisal, how can you be sure of its accuracy? Begin by selecting an independent appraiser who was not chosen by the lender, and use your common sense. If the home across the street just sold for $150,000 and your appraisal reports at $250,000, you may have reason to seek a second opinion, which may be provided in a Competitive Market Analysis (CMA) performed by a real estate agent.

State Jobless Rate Finally Inches Down

Department of Labor, Licensing and Regulation Secretary Thomas E. Perez announced this week that after 14 consecutive months of rising unemployment, the state's seasonally adjusted unemployment rate inched down slightly in April to 6.8

percent from March's revised rate of 6.9 percent. The national rate increased by four tenths of a percent to 8.9 percent in April.

During April, the number of employed rose by just over 9,300 persons, while the number of unemployed dropped by nearly 1,700 persons to 201,222. Unemployment, while declining, remains considerably above its April 2008 pre-recession level of 4 percent.

"The relative strength of Maryland's economy was on display in April, as unemployment here dipped while increasing elsewhere in the nation. However, while we hope the decline will continue, the small decrease over a single month does not necessarily indicate an end to the recession. Many Marylanders are still out of work and need assistance," Secretary Perez said.

Maryland's business payrolls continued to shed jobs in April, but the rate of decline appears to be moderating. While seasonally adjusted industry payrolls declined by 0.6 percent in February and 0.5 percent in March, the rate of decline slowed to 0.2 percent in April. This translated into a decline of 5,900 jobs.

Job reductions among private sector employers fueled the downward movement in April's industry payrolls. Construction was dealt the hardest blow, with declines among building contractors accounting for the largest portion of the industry's monthly loss. The demand for services provided by administrative support firms remained soft, causing employers in this sector to continue to trim payrolls.

The health care industry took a surprising turn in April. Up to this point, the

Marks 40th Year As Bookkeeper At Sincell Publishing

Jerry K. Stewart was honored with an in-office celebration last week at the main office of the Sincell Publishing Company, Oakland, where he marked his 40th year of employment with the business on May 19. The staff shared the noon meal together in his honor, and presented him with a new watch.

Stewart began his career at Sincell Publishing, the producer of The Republican newspaper, in 1969 by answering a blind advertisement for a bookkeeper. He was at that time employed by Matthews' Store, which was next to the paper company's building. He was hired by then manager Robert B. Sincell. George Hanst was the editor at that time.

"It truly has not seemed like 40 years to me," Stewart said. "I love working here."

He said the newspaper and commercial shop have gone through enormous transitions during his tenure. When he was hired, the staff used linotype machines to create the hot lead type for the publication of the newspaper. In the '70s, the transition to "cold type," or computer-generated copy, was initiated.

"The linotypes made the news copy line by line. Now we do everything with computers," Stewart said. "It's a completely different world than when I started."

When Stewart joined the staff, he had about 17 co-workers. The company now

Presentation On Drilling For Gas Slated At FSU

The Marcellus Shale is a sedimentary rock formation extending from southern New York across Pennsylvania, western Maryland, West Virginia, and eastern Ohio extending to 9,000 feet deep in some sections, containing significant quantities of natural gas. According to a release from the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, extraction of the natural gas will have an extensive economic impact on the region.

New developments in drilling technology, along with increasing wellhead prices, have made the Marcellus Shale an important natural gas resource, the release says. The production of commercial quantities of gas from this shale requires large volumes of water to drill and hydraulically fracture the rock. Balancing the positive economic impact of natural gas extraction from the Marcellus Shale are concerns about the availability of water supplies and questions about wastewater disposal.

Happy Birthday!

Listen with Your Heart

Memories are treasures
Time cannot take away.
So may you be surrounded
By happy ones today.
May all the love and tenderness
Of such few years well spent
Come back today to fill your heart
With beauty and content.
And may you walk down memory lane
And meet the child you love.
For while you cannot see him,
He'll be watching from above.
And if you trust you're dreaming
Your faith will make it true.
And if you listen with your heart
He'll come and talk with you.
So for his sake be happy
And show him that his love
Has proven strong and big enough
To reach down from above.
And you will never walk alone
When memory's door swings wide
For you'll find that your beloved child
Is always at your side.

Thank You

The family of Doris E. Adams would like to express a grateful "Thank You" to the many people who shared in our grief and sorrow.

Doris' illness was sudden and her passing was unexpected. It is during a time like this that we realize how much others care. Thanks to all who provided food, cards, flowers, comforting words, or a silent prayer.

We extend our appreciation to the doctors and nurses who cared for Doris at Ruby Memorial Hospital in Morgantown, WV. Also, thanks to the ministers who visited and provided prayer. We wish to include thanks to Rev. Ronald McCauley for the comforting message delivered during the service. In addition, we appreciate the meal that was provided by the Aurora Methodist Church of Aurora that followed the service.

Doris' journey in life was always approached by her calm and positive attitude. Family was her focus and she enjoyed each family member. We are grateful for the memories God has given us. We will miss Doris, but she will continue to live in our hearts until we are once again reunited.

Notes From Bittering

by Joan Giotfelty Sussman

As far as I know, the only serviceman from Bittering who died in the 20th century was my great-uncle Robert Giotfelty, or as I have always known of him, Uncle Rob. He died in France in 1918, and is buried in the Giotfelty Cemetery along Rock Lodge at the top of the hill about 1/2 mile from Mosser Road.

My grandfather Orval, his younger brother, had lots of letters and photographs of him. I remember one sad line of one of his letters, "I can't wait to come home to Bittering and make some hay." And he mentioned several times that he didn't see his younger brothers, Edward and Orval. But it was very clear how homesick he was.

His fiancée, Mary Selby, wrote a touching poem. "My true Crusade, come home..." I always wonder what happened to Mary, whether she married another young man and had children. But reading those letters and seeing his photograph that shows an extremely handsome young man made World War I seem very real. Maybe that's why I chose a World War I poet, Siegfried Sassoon, as my topic for my master's degree capstone paper.

I hope whichever of my daughters has time can come home soon so we can take a bouquet of lilac and apple blossoms from his home farm for his grave. It is in a lovely little family graveyard.

No, I was wrong about Uncle Rob being the only Bittering native. Another buried in the Bittering Cemetery by Emmanuel Lutheran Church is Oren Roy Engle.

My father, Robert Giotfelty, served as a medic in the South Pacific when we dropped the atomic bombs on Japan. He wrote home that he believed it was wrong and immoral. It is sad to think that over 50 years later, the nuclear threat continues to grow. Yesterday, North Korea exploded a big nuclear bomb underground, the same size as the A-bomb we dropped on Japan.

I wonder if my Caitlin is now in Vietnam. I got one phone call from her the day she arrived. I was excited and happy. I'm glad for her, but it is pretty miserable for me. I miss her so much.

Adorable Adoptables

The Memorial Day weather was not the greatest for outdoor activity. Late Saturday just when I was deciding if I was going over to my cousin Courtney's party in the Cove, a thunderstorm rolled through Bittering; not a severe one, but it made up my mind. It is very hard for me to get around Courtney's place. It is hilly and has lots of uneven ground. And it is almost impossible to make it inside to use the bathroom. And I was pretty dragged out and really only wanted to lie on the couch and watch the Pittsburgh Pirates. They were able to emerge from another slump. At last, they are getting some offense. I think the Pirates beat the White Sox 6-5. And I got a surprise visit from Linda and Steve Schweinsberg of Root Beachy Road.

Anyway, the storm also popped in and out at Courtney's. They had moved the picnic inside. Aunt Helen Englar and Courtney's brother Mike were nice enough to come over to Bittering, mainly, of course, to visit with my mother. In fact, on Monday - Memorial Day - she had a house full of company: Mike and Courtney Englar, their mother Helen, Robby, Darryl, and Elliot Giotfelty, Carol Bass, Rodney, and me.

My mother couldn't take her chemotherapy last week because her red blood count was too low. But she got fluid every day, and that should help.

Sunday and Monday were certainly muggy.

I think it is very pitiful that in the last couple of months we hear nothing but criticism from Republicans about Obama. Anything he does is wrong and anti-American, according to Republicans. The way the terrorist issue was rolled out wasn't handled perfectly, but can anyone not make any mistakes? It's nothing major.

The problem is, what will we do with the large number of detainees? But good news... the Italian prime minister volunteered to take some. He said we can't allow America to fight international terrorists alone. So hopefully, some more European allies will step up. I think the perfect place is the old prison in the San Francisco Bay, Alcatraz. It's true that it's pretty old and probably would need some work to get it ready, but it is very secure. That would create lots of jobs, and that's something that California does need.

I don't have much other local news except that Tim and Cheryl Bender returned from a two-week vacation in Florida and are back home. We saw two wild turkeys in Rodney's yard today. This week is the Great Tea Bag event. It's not at all grass-roots generated. In fact, the majority of Americans are glad to pay their taxes if they are spent on a few worthy things like health care, improving education, and other many important government functions, including defense and national security. Where do anti-tax fans believe the Naval battle ship came from? Thin air? Some things cannot be completed without cost.

But the SEAL sharpshooters performed brilliantly, almost unbelievably so. Yes, they probably were born with talent, but their training was not a product of backyard target shooting, and they reflect the new kind of force we need to fight the kind of wars we will encounter in the new kind of world we live in. Only special forces can do it, including the SEALs. The old high-tech weapon systems were designed to fight in a conventional war, not conflict like we are involved in in Iraq and Afghanistan, or in the situation like the recent pirates' action. Our nuclear arsenal and other big weapon systems are nearly worthless in those kind of wars. And they were very expensive; billions of dollars for years since the early 1960s. They are partly the cause of the big national debt.

And while America spends all its resources on them, many other important aspects of our nation's life were not addressed at all. It wasn't easy to convince them to abandon a new expensive weapon system, but somehow President Obama was able to convince them that we need to spend money on what we need to be successful in the kinds of wars we are now involved in.

So one big draw of taxpayer money is reduced, and maybe eventually eliminated. Of course, that is bad news for the big defense contractors and their employees. It is necessary to be able to respond to serious national disasters. And funds are needed for essential research and development to point our economy in a new direction, and for medical research to benefit untold thousands of American citizens.

Many federal agencies perform important functions for Americans, including, but not limited to: Food and Drug Administration (our food supply is the safest in the world) and the Environmental Protection Agency, protecting from pollution or other hazards.

Can you imagine America without its interstate highway system? When people are flying, they are glad for a national agency that is devoted to save air travel, and the federal Department of Agriculture is necessary.

The quality of life for all Americans is better because of a wide variety of federal spending. The National Endowment for the Arts appeals to the wide interests of many Americans who enjoy and value art in its many forms from over the years. All great nations and

BRINGING THE DREAM OF HOMEOWNERSHIP WITHIN REACH

As part of its plan to stimulate the U.S. housing market and address the economic challenges facing our nation, Congress has passed legislation that grants a tax credit of up to $8,000 to first-time home buyers.

Here is more information about how the 2009 First-Time Home Buyer Tax Credit can help prospective home buyers become part of the American dream.

Q. Who qualifies?

A. First-time home buyers who purchase homes between January 1, 2009, and December 1, 2009. To qualify is a first-time home buyer the purchaser or his/her spouse may not have owned a residence during the three years prior to the purchase.

Q. Which properties are eligible?

A. The 2009 First-Time Home Buyer Tax Credit may be applied to primary residences, including single-family homes, condos, townhomes, and co-ops.

Q. How much will the credit be?

A. The maximum allowable credit for home buyers is $8,000. Each home buyer's tax credit is determined by two factors: the price of the home (the credit is equal to 10% of the purchase price of the home, up to $8,000), and the buyer's income: single buyers with incomes up to $75,000 and married couples with incomes up to $150,000 may receive the maximum tax credit.

Q. If the buyer's income exceeds these limits, can he/she still get a credit?

A. Yes, some buyers may still be eligible for the credit. The credit decreases for buyers who earn between $75,000 and $95,000 for single buyers, and between $150,000 and $170,000 for home buyers filing jointly. The amount of the tax credit decreases as his/her income approaches the maximum limit. Home buyers earning more than the maximum qualifying income – over $95,000 for singles and over $170,000 for couples – are not eligible for the credit.

Q. Will the tax credit need to be repaid?

A. No. The buyer does not need to repay the tax credit, if he/she occupies the home for three years or more. However, if the property is sold during the three-year period, the credit will be recouped on the sale.

civilizations support their artists' expressions.

Those are only a few of the national programs supported by taxes. Would America support the elimination of the national parks by Congress? The higher living standards of Americans for a long time have been helped at least partly by taxpayers' money, but we are still far from the best possible America.

It's a shame that Americans feel it necessary to put more weight on our president's shoulders, which are already carrying the whole world's problems. Few problems are solved without spending some money. And polls revealed that a majority of Americans are willing to pay higher taxes to achieve access to health care for everyone to help to improve the education system.

On a more pleasant subject, I just saw a hummingbird, after a big meal from my feeder, stop and sip from a little orange blossom of jewel weed.

My Meredith and Caitlin, Emma Bass, and I played a rousing game of Scrabble last Saturday afternoon with my mother, Ruth DiPaolo. Most of the time when I play Scrabble I win, but not this time. My mother won.

Although the Republican Party is ready to start a big fight about the upcoming Supreme Court nominee, it may come with a high price, politically, especially if they attack a female nominee because of gender. They spoke about what would happen if Obama nominated a radical, but that's ridiculous. His short list includes well-seasoned, experienced, respected individuals. Besides, Obama is not a far left-wing at all. It is not radical to oppose torture. One of my most conservative friends says she is deeply against torture.

I think he is unwise and too timid not to end the "Don't ask, don't tell" policy about homosexuals for the military. We lost many highly trained, qualified, and eager-to-serve personnel because of that stupid policy. We need as many new soldiers as we can find. It was very controversial when we finally allowed African-Americans to serve. They played an important role in World War II, Korea, and Vietnam.

Then there was a big fuss when women were allowed to enter the service. I have mixed feelings about female soldiers, because it's not something that I would do at all. I never liked guns. It's partly how I was born and nurtured. My experiences most of my life made me unsuitable for combat. But I do know quite a few women and girls who love to hunt and shoot. I was big and strong when I was military age. Maybe I would get through basic training, but quite a few females don't.

Today there are many jobs in the military that do not require muscles or shooting. But I'm not in favor of drafting girls. Actually, I'm opposed to any kind of draft. That is what went so wrong during Vietnam. The draft was so extensive, it brought many unsuitable boys to be soldiers, which is the reason there were so many damaged minds and souls when they came home. They never should have done something so wrong for themselves.

That is one reason that so many veterans of Vietnam ended up mentally ill, especially with post-traumatic stress disorder. They also fell into drug abuse and alcoholic lifestyles. There were also so many homeless, so many broken lives because they were put in a position that was blatantly wrong for their characters and natures.

This is the reason it is so stupid to reject someone who is willing and able to fight because of one's sexual orientation. Some believe gay men are wimpy or girly, not tough enough for military service. Some are, but many are not, and they want to prove themselves by joining the military. They should have that opportunity.

I don't understand homophobia (anti-gay). I have one good friend who is an extreme case, and I often talk to her about it. The only reason for her attitude is a verse in Isaiah. But I believe that Jesus loves his gay children. And I am not a big fan of "cherry picking," or looking for something in the Bible to support your position. I tend to take the Bible as a whole, but especially the New Testament. The overall message to me of Jesus is love and forgiveness. He never showed any sign of moral superiority to anyone.

What is so terrible about two people of the same gender being attracted to each other and developing a loving, committed relationship? I know a dozen of that kind of gay couples. Even in Garrett County! But they were far more common throughout my travels, including an American Olympic gold and silver medalist in the same event as I, which was equestrian. There were more when I was working in show business. I know several lovely couples who deserve to have the right to marry if they desire that. I never thought much at all about their sex lives, because people's sex lives are no one else's business. I know at least four gay couples who would have better marriages than quite a few heterosexual marriages.

I dislike prejudice of any kind. You might think that I am prejudiced about conservatism, but that is based on the harm done to America when she has so many serious problems and a decent, honorable, and brilliant man is trying to save her. I doubt anyone who watched

Obama give a speech could hate him, even if they disagree with him.

On the other side of the aisle, the Republican Party is certainly at a crossroad, and if it goes on the Cheney road, they will be in big trouble.

June is busting out all over. Well, not quite. The calendar still says May, but it's after Memorial Day, so summer is here. My Claire got her wish. The trees have their leaves completely out. Everything is so green, and June bugs are abundant. We had a couple of days of 80 degrees last week. It is wonderful!

Communication Disorders Do Not Discriminate

Millions of Americans have a communication or swallowing disorder. These disorders affect people of all ages, from all walks of life. For them, simple thoughts like "Thank you" and "I love you" may be impossible to convey. If you are concerned that a disorder is affecting your education, professional life, or personal relationships, consult a speech-language pathologist.

LIGHTING CHARCOAL

Q. We were trying to barbecue, but the charcoal wasn't catching fire. I wanted to put more newspapers in to get it to light faster, but my friend said to blow air in from underneath. Who was right?

A. The advantage of blowing air is that it brings in more oxygen, and oxygen is absolutely necessary for charcoal to burn. It's easy to see the flame when a piece of newspaper is on fire, but that goes away quickly. If a group of charcoal briquettes just sits on a grating, a newspaper burning nearby will provide a little heat; but unless there is plentiful oxygen near the charcoal, the chemical reaction of combustion won't take place. Chemically, charcoal is essentially just CH (carbon and hydrogen), and so the reaction is: $4\text{CH} + 5\text{O}_2 + \text{heat} = 2\text{H}_2\text{O} + 4\text{CO}_2$

The reaction products of combustion (fire) are simply water vapor and carbon dioxide. When combustion occurs, a lot of energy is released, which makes the adjacent charcoal hotter and more likely to burn. But if the oxygen isn't there, the chemical reaction doesn't take place, and the fire goes out.

Therefore, providing oxygen is the right thing to do when trying to start a charcoal fire. A lighted newspaper only provides the first little bit of heat needed; after that, the important point is to keep the chemical reaction going. You can provide oxygen by moving air past the charcoal from the side or underneath, either with a bellows or by huffing and puffing. Having the oxygen come up from underneath is best, because it takes advantage of the natural flow of hot air rising.

Sometimes people find that their charcoal is not catching fire, and then they squirt on some more starter fluid. That is actually counterproductive. Charcoal lighting fluid is deliberately manufactured with a "negative heating value," so as to prevent people from blowing themselves up. When put on five or so minutes ahead of time, it soaks into the charcoal and helps get the chemical reaction going. But when it's simply squirted into a flame, it acts like water and tends to cool down the charcoal.

So your friend was right: The solution for a slow-starting charcoal fire is to blow air in, because that provides plenty of oxygen.

AN OPEN INVITATION

Ever since they were introduced into the marketplace in 2005, open fit hearing instruments have enjoyed huge popularity with consumers. They were originally designed for people with high-frequency hearing losses who felt that in the ear or in the canal instruments produced an awkward (plugged up) effect. To circumvent the problem, designers produced an instrument that replaces an earmold with ultrathin, virtually invisible tubing that delivers sound to the ear from the lightweight receiver, which is tucked neatly behind the ear and very nearly out of sight. The result is a comfortable instrument that delivers a more natural sound of the wearer's own voice. To hear and feel what all the excitement is about, schedule an appointment to familiarize yourself with this exciting instrument.

Although more sophisticated and technologically advanced than ever before, today's hearing instruments still keep one simple goal in mind—helping the hearing impaired hear better by making the most of the hearing they have. Hearing instruments of today are becoming smaller, more comfortable, and more invisible, but their benefits are getting bigger and broader. Come find out what's new haven't heard in a long time.

P.S. Many people who have put off wearing hearing instruments or have not been satisfied with previous instruments are coming to embrace open fit instruments.

DNR Kicks Off 6th Natural Resource Photo Contest

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is now accepting entries for the 6th annual Maryland Natural Resource Photo Contest. The contest invites student, amateur, and professional photographers to submit photos of Maryland's diverse natural resources now through Sept. 11.

"This is a great opportunity," said DNR Secretary John Griffin. "Not only is it a chance for photographers of all skill levels to compete for exposure, but the contest highlights the natural beauty Maryland has to offer."

Last year, Milton Tierney of Waldorf topped more than 300 other photographers with his winning image titled "Resting Dragonfly," a photograph of a dragonfly resting on a flower.

Second place winners were Edward Lowe of Coloma, Michael Eversmier of Cockeysville, Sharon Pyle of Annapolis, Sabine Dickens of Montgomery Village, Larry Hitchens of Easton, and Robert Ramirez of Bowie.

Photographers of all ages can win more than $1,200 in prizes and a chance to have their outdoor images published in print and online. Winning entries will be featured in the winter issue of The Maryland Natural Resource magazine, as well as the 2010 DNR calendar.

Photos entered into the 2009 contest will be judged within five categories: birds, wildlife (from fish to frogs to foxes), insects, from mountains to the Chesapeake Bay (landscape), wild plants, and Maryland state parks.

graphs must be taken in Maryland. Photographers may submit up to three entries for a $10 entry fee. Photos cannot be more than two years old or previously published.

Non-residents may participate, as long as the photos were taken in Maryland. Winners will be announced online Oct. 15.

Official rules and contest entry forms are available online at dnr.maryland.gov/photocontest.

The stage band, also under the direction of Elmlinger, will present eight pieces, with music by Feist ("Mushaboom"), the Indigo Girls ("Closer to Fine"), Dar Williams ("After All"), Paul Simon ("Old") and "50 Ways to Leave Your Lover"), the Doors ("Hello, I Love You"), the Red Hot Chili Peppers ("Dani California"), and Led Zeppelin ("Bron-yaur Stomp").

The show choir, under the direction of Debi Beachy, will perform songs such as "September" by Earth, Wind, & Fire; "Bohemian Rhapsody" by Queen; "Dust in the Wind," Kansas; and "Fernando," Mamma Mia! and "Dancing Queen" by ABBA.

The chorus will present "Fields of Gold" (Sting); "Imagine" (John Lennon); and "All I Ask of You" from The Phantom of the Opera. Beachy said the chorus will also sing the usual variety of choral repertoire including "Til the Walls Come Down," "Tres Cantos Nativos," "Sing Praise, Alleluia," "Ave Maria," and "Didn't My Lord Deliver Daniel."

Refreshments will be available.

"The Hopi Creation Story" To Be Presented At Oakland Library

The Oakland library will host a free program titled "Four Worlds So Far: The Hopi Creation Story" on Monday, June 15, at 6:30

HOPi STORYTELLING EVENT SCHEDULED — The Oakland library will host a free program titled "Four Worlds So Far: The Hopi Creation Story" on Monday, June 15, at 6:30 p.m. This program features a 210-foot-long scroll painted by artist Ruth Blackwell and her husband Hugh as a storytelling event.

The illustration of the Hopi Creation Story is based on Frank Waters' Book of the Hopi.

"I saw the Hopi story as an inner and outer journey that led an entire people toward the present," said Ruth. "It flowed along like a stream, gradually transforming. When I decided to paint it, I set to work on one long piece of paper."

The scroll depicts the creation story as told to Waters, a Southwest writer who lived in the small Hopi community, the oldest continuously inhabited settlement in the Americas. Hopi means "People of Peace."

Waters recorded the story in his book, which inspired Ruth's painting.

"The format of scroll and story echoes the Native American experience of time as ever unrolling," said a library spokesperson.

The Ruth and Hugh have toured the Hopi scroll since 1992, when they premiered it in Prague, Czechoslovakia. They have shown it at many venues since then, including conferences, picnics, schools, colleges, churches, barns, theaters, libraries, and homes.

The Rogerses live near Elkins, W.Va., where they paint, write, work on conservation issues, and run a small retreat center. Ruth received her bachelor of arts degree in studio art from Randolph-Macon Women's College and her master of fine arts from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Living and painting in Randolph County, W.Va., for more than 30 years, Ruth has exhibited in more than three dozen solo shows and numerous group shows in museums, colleges, galleries, and conferences in the U.S. and abroad.

For more information, persons may contact the library at 301-334-3996, ext. 117, or bonnie@relib.net. Reservations are not required for the program, but the spokesperson noted that a courtesy call to the library would be appreciated.

A listing of all events and services at the Ruth Enlow Library can be found online at relib.net.

The Huskies were represented by Whitney Murphy, Chelsi Kling, Amber Kling, and Terra McKenzie, and the Rams sent senior Krista Hollingsworth and junior Samantha Taylor.

Murphy, both Klings, and McKenzie made up Northern's 4x1 and 4x2 relay teams, which both placed in the top six at states. The girls finished second in the state in the Murphy also competed in the 100 meter dash, where she placed 10th in the semifinals on Thursday.

Hollingsworth ran in the 3200 meter run on Thursday, placing seventh in the state with a time of 12:17.70, missing the school record by two seconds.

The semifinals for the 100 high hurdles were held Thursday, with Taylor competing. She qualified for the finals on Saturday, where she crossed the line in 6th place with a time of 17.10 seconds.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

MEMORIAL DAY WEEKEND STARTED WITH A WHIMPER, BUT ENDED WITH A BANG

by Dan Muss

Sailboat racing on Deep Creek Lake starts on the Saturday of the Memorial Day weekend with a tune-up race called the Steiding Cup. For that race all fleets start together and there is one winner. The second race on Saturday is the first race of the Becker Cup, with races 2 and 3 on Sunday and race 4 on Monday.

Some years Memorial Day weekend can be cool and/or stormy, but this year, even with Memorial Day coming early, we had weather that was more like that of summer. So, on Saturday morning the principal race officer (PRO), Stephanie Mahan, postponed the tune-up race for two hours hoping for a breeze to come up, which never materialized. So she canceled the Steiding Cup race and postponed the first race of the Becker Cup until Sunday.

On Sunday there was a 3-5 knot WNW breeze, so our PRO set the course in the slot between Turkey Neck and Thousand Acres and started the fleets on time. But by the time our Masters Fleet started it had died, so that we barely had helm way. Just after our start, Kemp came up and luffed us. It was hard to respond because we were moving so slowly, and he tapped us so we had to do our two penalty turns. It was agonizing to do them because we had so little helm way, but we finally did while the fleet inched away.

We then took an unfavorable tack to get away from them and, when the breeze finally did return, we were back in the race, as we caught it before the others did. We were in second place going downwind and caught Meehan at the leeward mark. On the final beat to the finish the wind died again with us back in the middle. It looked like Peters had the race in the bag, but again the fleet sailed into the Turkey Neck shore while we tacked out toward Thousand Acres, caught the freshening breeze almost out of the north, got lifted, and finished first... on a close reach!

In the Gold Fleet there is an interesting internal battle going on; Allison Felix, sailing with her older son Nathan as crew, is battling her father Dick Gregory, who has grandson David Felix for his crew. Dick and David didn't do too well in the first and second races, but in the third, 11-year-old David flew the spinnaker and they came in first.

In the Challenger Fleet the Copeland team was way ahead in the standings and was in first place 50 yards from the finish line of the third race when their spinnaker and jib sheets got tangled. Before that "Chinese fire drill" was over, a bunch of boats passed them. At the awards ceremony Tom Myers graciously thanked the Copelands for letting the Myerses win.

In the Silver Fleet's third race there were three boats approaching the leeward mark on port tack, running dead downwind, overlapped. Corson was the middle boat. The outside boat was about half a boat length ahead of them, the inside boat about half a length behind. Approximately 15 boat lengths from the mark, Corson gybed onto starboard to gain an additional measure of control over the situation; they were then able to move ahead of the outside boat, but remained overlapped with the outside boat coming into the mark. Corson then proceeded to make several errors in rapid succession. He should have gybed back to port before having the crew go forward to take down the pole, but he did not. They subsequently suffered an inadvertent gybe that pinned his crew, Marta Hansen, against the shrouds. In the resulting chaos, he failed to check the boat inside of them to determine whether they were overlapped going into the three-boat length circle. Corson turned around the mark and might have come out in decent shape, but when he finally looked back at the inside boat, its bow was about two feet inside his stern and they made light contact. Since Corson had failed to check the overlap at three boat lengths (and heard no hail from the inside boat), he assumed responsibility for the contact and did a 720 as soon as they were clear of traffic rounding the mark. But he went on to win the Silver Fleet!

"Operation False Charity" Targets Fraudulent Charitable Solicitors

from the Md. Attorney General's Office
Maryland Attorney General Douglas F. Gansler and Secretary of State John P. McDonough last Wednesday joined the Federal Trade Commission in announcing a nationwide crackdown on fraudulent charitable solicitors claiming to help police, firefighters, and veterans.

"Operation False Charity" is a joint law enforcement and public education campaign by the FTC, attorneys general and secretaries of state from across the country to highlight fraudulent fundraising. Fraudulent solicitors take advantage of the good will and generosity of donors by misrepresenting who they are and what they intend to do with the funds they raise, often picking the most popular charitable causes support for police or firefighters and their families, veterans relief, terminally ill children - to most effectively obtain money from sympathetic individuals. The scam artists ultimately undermine the public's confidence in legitimate charitable fundraising and injure those legitimate non-profit organizations that compete for a depleted pool of charity dollars. "There are many reliable charities that rely upon generous contributions from the public to carry out their work," said Gansler. "We all need to feel confident that our donations will be used for the intended charitable purpose. I encourage everyone to do their homework to ensure that the charities they choose to sup-

MAY RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH NAMED - Junior Bobby Gower was recently named Southern High School's May Perkins Random Acts of Maturity (RAM) Student of the Month. He lives in Oakland with his grandmother, Maxine Gower. Teachers Wendy Shoemaker and Andi Sutton nominated Gower for his character and dependability. "He is a hard working, polite young gentleman whom we can always count on," Sutton said. Gower often takes on the roll of crew leader when given tasks to carry out with others. He has also proved willing to teach new jobs and tasks to other students who have difficulty. "Southern High School is proud to have the dedication of such students, making Southern High School a great place to learn," said RAM coordinator Bob Bonser. From left are Sutton, Gower, and vice principal Ed Wildesen.

RAM STUDENT OF THE MONTH NAMED FOR APRIL - Southern High School recently named Junior Brittany Burns its April Perkins Random Acts of Maturity (RAM) Student of the Month. She lives in Oakland with her mother, Brenda Burns. SHS staff members Wendy Shoemaker, Irene Thomas, and Elaine Bateman nominated Burns for being "an exemplary young lady who is very positive and exhibits wonderful friendship qualities." She has been involved in the school's Best Buddies Program for two years and currently holds the office of treasurer. "Brittany has made a lasting impression on many of our students," said Shoemaker. "Southern High School is proud to have such a devoted young individual making a difference in the lives of others." From left are RAM coordinator Bob Bonser, Burns, and vice principal Ed Wildesen.

port are legitimate." In making the announcement, Gansler announced a multi-state settlement with Community Support Inc. (CSI), a national professional fundraiser. CSI solicits funds from consumers in nearly every state on behalf of over 35 charitable clients. CSI kept at least 83% of all money donated, and in some cases kept 90% of all donations, leaving just 10% for the charity. In addition, the multi-state investigation revealed that CSI often made statements that could mislead Maryland residents about how donations were spent, how much of each donation would go to the stated charitable purpose, and whether CSI's employees were members of veterans, fire, or police officer groups. Under the terms of the settlement, CSI has agreed to halt its deceptive practices. Violations of the settlement may result in penalties of $10,000 per violation. CSI also agreed to reimburse the participating states $200,000 for the costs of the investigation. With more information readily available over the Internet, consumers have the tools to check out a charity before they decide to donate. To make the best use of your charitable dollars, always follow these three rules:

- Check with the Mary-

mission.

Don't Be Rushed

These days, many charities solicit money by telephone. Telephone solicitations can be legitimate requests for money, but it is possible the caller does not represent a genuine charity. Unscrupulous callers want to get money fast. They often ask for a credit card number or offer to send a courier to pick up your check before you can

UNKNOWN SOLDIER HONORED - Several veterans organizations and auxiliaries paid annual tribute at the grave of the unknown soldier in the Oakland Cemetery on Monday, as residents took time to remember and honor those all who have departed this life, and especially those who served in the U.S. military. Vietnam veteran Marvin

"Red" Guthrie, who was a platoon sergeant with the 1st Battalion 60th Artillery Division, received numerous medals for his service, including the Bronze Star and National Defense medals. He served in the regular Army for six years and then in the U.S. Army National Guard for 18 years. Photos by John McEwen.

PATRIOTIC MUSIC has a major role in almost every Memorial Day observance, and this year was no exception. Dannett Road Elementary School honored America's veterans last Friday with a program directed by Tamera Lottmann. Third grader Kaylin Paugh opened the program by singing "The Star-Spangled Banner." The Southern High ROTC color guard presented colors and gave a rifle performance. Patriotic songs were sung by third graders (pictured above), who also played "Ode to Joy" on their recorders. First graders led the audience in singing "God Bless the U.S.A." Fourth graders explained the meaning of Memorial Day, the story of the poppy, and the story explaining the meaning of "Taps." The VFW/American Legion Color Guard explained the meaning of red, white, and blue on the flag, and gave a 21-gun salute. Music teacher Dan Taylor played "Taps." Pictured below is the Southern Gerrard Marching Band, directed by Josh Elminger, which participated in Oakland's Memorial Day parade and also provided music for the following ceremony at the Oakland Cemetery. The band will present its annual spring concert this evening at the school at 7 p.m. The SHS stage band, chorus, and show choir concert will be presented next Tuesday, June 2, at the school.

CDS Possession Charge Leads To One Year Sentence For Oakland Man

In recent Garrett County District Court hearings, Christopher Allen Care, 21, Oakland, was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert for a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession not marijuana charge, and was sentenced to one year with nine months suspended, two years of supervised probation, and $257.50 in fines.

In February, Garrett County sheriff's officers and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force stopped a vehicle near Toothpick Road for negligent driving. A K-9 scan was utilized and displayed a positive alert for the presence of narcotics in the vehicle. Care, the driver, and four other occupants were asked to exit the vehicle.

Officers found a syringe and a capsule containing a white powder in the vehicle, and a search of Care revealed a cellophane wrapper containing four heroin capsules in his right sock. He was placed under arrest and transported to the GCDC for processing. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge.

In a related case, William Ray Woodward, 20, Oakland, was charged with CDS possession not marijuana in February. He was found guilty and was sentenced to one year with nine months suspended, two years of supervised probation, and $107.50 in fines.

Woodward was a passenger in Care's car, and when asked to exit the vehicle, one of the officers witnessed Woodward placing a syringe and capsule on the rear seat. He admitted they were his, and after an additional search of Woodward, officers found three heroin capsules.

Woodward was arrested and taken to the Garrett

MEETING A HERO - Retired NASA astronaut Donald Thomas paid a visit to Garrett County last week, speaking at Deep Creek Marina as a promotional event for Garrett County Memorial Hospital. Among the attendees was Mariah Bolden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Coby Bolden, who wore her very own space suit to the program and then got to personally meet Thomas. After having his first three applications to NASA rejected, Thomas was finally accepted on his fourth attempt, and served as an astronaut for 17 years. During his career he flew on four space shuttle missions, orbiting the Earth some 700 times.

County Detention Center. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge.

In an unrelated court hearing, Jordan Anthony Stewart, 22, Silver Spring, was found guilty for a theft valued at less than $500 charge, and was sentenced to 30 days with 29 days of credit for time served and $57.50 in fines.

In October 2008, Maryland State Police arrested Stewart for an outstanding warrant through Harford County. After a search of Stewart, officers located a cell phone that had been reported stolen from an apartment on Garrett College's campus. He was not prosecuted on a first degree burglary charge.

Percy Adolphus Redman, 46, Oakland, was found guilty for a charge of driving a motor vehicle on a revoked license and privilege, and was sentenced to eight days with eight days of credit time served, and fines were suspended.

Redman's charges stemmed from a traffic stop by MSP in May 2008. After officers made contact with Redman, he admitted to officers that his license was suspended, and that the plates did not belong on the vehicle he was driving. The tags were reported as stolen through the Cumberland City Police Department, and further questioning of Redman revealed that the vehicle was also uninsured.

Redman was not prosecuted on charges of theft less than $100, driving on the left side of the roadway in a posted no passing zone, failure to display license on stop. A K-9 scan of the vehicle gave a positive alert for the presence of drugs. A search of the vehicle revealed two smoking pipes containing marijuana. Folk was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of marijuana.

Michelle Renae Cosner, 23, Oakland, pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge, was given a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $157.50 in fines.

Cosner's charges stemmed from a March incident at a local bar with MSP responding. She was not prosecuted on charges of second degree assault, disturbing the peace, and failure to obey a reasonable and lawful order.

David Matthew Stevenson, 23, Baltimore, pleaded guilty to a CDS possession of paraphernalia charge, was given a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation, and $157.50 in fines. He was charged after MSP and GCNTF executed a search and seizure warrant of his hotel room at the Wisp Resort in January 2008. He was not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of marijuana.

David Allen Mayne, 27, Oakland, was charged with failure to notify the sex offender registry of a change of residence in March. His case was placed on stet with conditions being to remain in compliance.

Kimpasi Leanne Goodwin, 18, McHenry, was charged with second degree assault in February after an altercation with an adult. Her case was placed on stet with conditions being to obey all laws.

Michael R. Schmidt, 22, Oakland, was charged with CDS possession not mari-

"BEING AN ARTIST is more than a career; it's a way of life," were among the words extended to the 2009 graduates of the West Virginia University College of Creative Arts by commencement speaker Matthew Sincell, a Garrett County native and professional actor. The commencement was held May 16 in the Creative Arts Center in front of the acting, dance, music, and art graduates, plus several hundred family members and friends. Sincell, a 2001 graduate of WVU, spoke of the many difficulties involved with pursuing a career in the arts, and advised the grads that they should "be ready to embrace this part of the journey." He challenged them to: "Impress upon a nation and a world that what we do is valuable... We are vessels and instruments of words, of movement, of sound, of image, of change... Be tenacious. You are your own boss, manager, and product." Much of Sincell's work has been in classical theatre, having played in numerous Shakespearian productions in the United States and Europe. He was one of two American actors selected for an international artists in residence program at the Globe in London. He has also performed in a variety of other plays, and was nominated last year for an Innovative Theatre Award for Best Actor in a Featured Role. He is currently in a Blessed Unrest Theatre Company production of a play titled Nick, a contemporary adaptation of a Chekhov play that opens this week at the Interart Theatre in New York City.

juana, CDS possession of paraphernalia, CDS possession with intent to distribute, and seizure warrant of his residence. His case was placed on stet with no conditions given.

Willis Junior Glotfelty, 48, Oakland, was found not guilty for a charge of second degree assault, stemming from a domestic dispute in March.

Janice Lynn Reichart, 45, Accident, was not prosecuted for charges in March of CDS possession of mari-possessing CDS production equipment, and for manufacturing and distributing CDS. Her charges stemmed from a search and seizure of her residence by GCSO and GCNTF.

Corvette Club To Display Vehicles At Wisp Resort

The Free State Corvette Club will display 54 Corvettes on Saturday, May 30, at the Wisp Resort.

The club has been in existence since 1969, and organizes one of the largest Corvette Club events in Ocean City each year.

Last year through that event, the group raised $52,000, of which $36,600 went to the Children's Spina Bifida Association, $6,200 to the Maryland Children's Therapeutic Riding Academy, and $9,200 to the BWI Airport USO.

Each spring, Rick Schinzel, a member since 1998, plans a mystery cruise for the club to kick off the summer and prepare the organization for the Ocean City event.

"The 105 members attending the mystery cruise to the Wisp Resort have no idea what is planned for them through Sunday," Schinzel said. "Be sure to stop by and say hi to the members and enjoy all the Corvettes on display."

For more information, persons may contact Schinzel at 443-605-8878 or e-mail rschinzel@yahoo.com.

Are You Neglecting Your 403(b) Plan?

Are you an educator? Or are you employed by a nonprofit organization? In either case, you may have a 403(b) retirement plan available to you. Your 403(b) plan is similar to 401(k) plans offered by companies, yet some evidence suggests that participation in 403(b) plans is lower than that found in 401(k)s. If you're not taking advantage of your 403(b), you may want to reconsider because your plan can provide a big boost to your retirement savings. If you're not familiar with a 403(b), you'll want to understand the key benefits:

- Tax-deferred earnings Your money grows on a tax-deferred basis, which means it can accumulate faster than if it were placed in an investment on which you paid taxes every year.
- Pre-tax contributions Typically, you fund your 403(b) with pre-tax dollars, so the more you put in, the lower your annual taxable income. In addition, some 403(b) plans may allow a Roth option, which allows your earnings to grow tax free provided you meet certain conditions. However, your contributions are made with after-tax dollars.
- Varied investment options You most likely have a variety of investment choices with which to fund your 403(b), so you can build a portfolio that is appropriate for your risk tolerance and time horizon.
- Given these features, why aren't more people participating in their 403(b) plans? One key reason seems to be that many eligible employees, especially teachers, also are covered by a pension plan, and they think a pension, combined with Social Security, may be enough to meet their retirement income goals. But that's probably not true. You'll likely need at least 80% of your working income during retirement and that figure could easily rise.

JUNE SUN - In early June, the sun rises in Oakland about 5:53 a.m. and sets about 8:37 p.m. In the first 20 days of June, the sun appears in the star group Taurus, entering Gemini at 9 a.m. on June 21, the first day of summer. (Earth's motion about the sun causes the sun to shift from one zodiac star group to another.) When the sun is in a zodiac group, this group will be swallowed in the sun's glare. Also, any star groups close by will also be invisible. So once the sun enters Gemini, all the adjacent star groups such as Orion and his hunting dogs will be lost to our view. As June draws to a close, Oakland and surroundings will have sunrises about 5:54 a.m. and sunsets about 8:49 p.m. So Oakland's daily ration of sunlight in June will stay a little under 15 hours.

JUNE MOON - As June opens, the moon appears half full in the evening sky, resembling a tilted letter "D." Along the moon's left or straight edge, the sun is rising, first illuminating the raised rims of the craters. The moon also has mountain ranges whose peaks also catch the sunlight while the lower areas are still in shadow. On June 2 and 3, the moon will appear near Spica, Virgo's brightest star. On the evening of June 6, the nearly full moon appears close to Antares, the brightest star in the Scorpion. The moon grows to full on June 7, appearing low in the southern evening sky. After June 11, the moon will be rising about midnight, only being seen in the a.m. hours. On June 13, the moon appears near the bright planet Jupiter. On June EARN ARROW OF LIGHT - Three Cub Scouts from Grantsville's Pack 49 were each recently awarded the Arrow of Light badge, the highest rank in Cub Scouting. The boys participated in numerous community service projects during the last five years, including food drives, Memorial Day services, fundraising for Pack 49, hiking trail cleanups, and native red spruce tree plantings at Swallow Falls State Park. They have also participated in many recreational scouting activities, such as hiking, camping, fishing, horseback riding, and swimming. Pictured from left are honorees Zachary Voelkel and David Blittinger Jr.; Terry Bollinger, unit commissioner of Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America; and honoree Kyle Klotz.

19, the crescent moon will be over the brilliant planet Venus and the dull planet Mars in the eastern dawn. On June 22, the moon swings from the morning to the evening side of the sun. By June 24, a slender crescent moon may be seen low in the western dusk. On the evening of June 27, a crescent moon will appear near the planet Saturn. As June ends, the evening moon appears half full, again at its best for revealing its craters and mountains through binoculars or telescopes.

JUNE PLANETS - In early June, the brilliant planet Venus reaches its greatest angle from the sun, rising more than two hours before the sun. The planet Mars also appears near Venus in the eastern dawn. But Venus is more than 100 times as bright as Mars, owing to Venus' larger size and closeness to both Earth and sun. The planet Jupiter now rises in the early morning hours, rising about a half hour earlier each week. (By July, Jupiter will be seen in the late evening southeastern sky.) The planet Saturn is the only easily seen planet in the evening sky. Saturn is in Leo the Lion and seen in the southwestern evening sky as a steady point of light.

JUNE STARS - On June evenings, the Big Dipper's handle is at its highest in the north. Extend the Dipper's handle outward to the bright golden star Arcturus, which will be the brightest star in view. In the east, the brightest evening star is white-blue Vega. Vega is the top star of the Summer Triangle, a trio of bright stars in the east. On moonless clear nights, the glow of the Milky Way can be seen running across the lower part of the Summer Triangle. Low in the southeast is the bright pink star Antares, marking the head of the Scorpion. In the southwest are two bright points, the star Regulus and the planet Saturn (on the left). Regulus will be twinkling while Saturn shines steadily.

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards.

Church of God Will Host Final Call Ministries

The Loch Lynn Church of God will host Final Call Ministries next Wednesday, June 3, at 7 p.m.

According to Pastor Ivan Ackerman, Final Call Ministries, Overland Park, Kansas, has a mission of "bringing the hope of Jesus Christ to the world." Through worship and speaking, six young men travel across America taking the Christian message to churches and the streets, with a mission of inspiring and empowering churches to grow, and "speaking life into the downtrodden and broken."

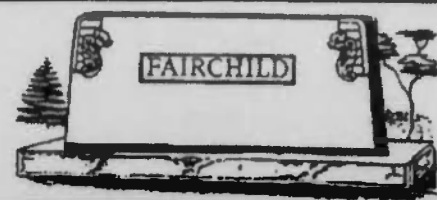

"Their worship ministry, Don't Give Up The Ship, has a vision to bring life and hope to the broken through music, and to spur on the church in worship together towards an all deserving God," Ackerman said. "They feel music can break down barriers and reach audiences that would otherwise never step foot in a church."

The speaker is Austin Pruett, who according to Ackerman, "speaks with a passion about a relationship with a creator who desires more than just religion. His heart is for the outcast and the forgotten, and his mission is to inspire a generation of heroes for God."

Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman, along with the congregation at Loch Lynn Church, invite the public to attend this special service. The church is located at 8649 Gorman Road, Loch Lynn, (beside WKHJ radio station). For more information, persons may telephone the church office at 301-334-3221.

Blessed Thistle for Indigestion

Blessed Thistle is the name of an herb that has been used to increase a person's appetite and to aid in the process of digestion. This herb is also known as holy thistle or bitter thistle. Blessed thistle is not related to the herbal supplement milk thistle. Blessed thistle is sometimes found in an herbal preparation called Essiac, which is sometimes used by people with cancer (although its benefit has not been proven for this use). The leaves, stems, and flowers are commonly used as a supplement.

Blessed thistle is thought to increase the amount of acid in the stomach, and to relieve indigestion. However, there are limited studies which evaluated the effectiveness of this herb in these conditions. Individuals who are allergic to ragweed, echinacea, bitter weed, or mugwort should not take blessed thistle. It is reported to be safe when taken at regular doses for short periods of time. High doses may cause stomach irritation and vomiting. For that reason Blessed thistle should not be used by people with stomach ulcers or those taking blood thinning medications.

'Island' girls aren't sisters, despite last name

By Jay Bobbin
© Zappa

Q: I've been watching "Harper's Island." Are cast members Elaine Cassidy and Katie Cassidy sisters? -Jason Stryker, Fair Lawn, N.J.

A: No, despite the CBS series (now seen on Saturdays) and the last name that they have in common, Elaine is Irish, Katie, whose father is "The Bridge Family" teen idol David Cassidy, is a Los Angeles native.

Q: I've been enjoying reruns of "The Golden Girls." Can you tell me who sings the theme song, "Thank You for Being a Friend"? Is it Rue McClanahan? -Mary Fix, Grand Island, N.Y.

A: Cyndia Lauper is the name of the artist who recorded the sitcom's version of the tune, which earlier had been a chart hit for its composer, Andrew Gold.

Q: How are the celebrities paid on "Dancing With the Stars"? -Peggy Weekley, Oklahoma City

A: This became common knowledge only recently, since gymnast Shawn Johnson's status as a minor required that her contract for the just-ended season of the ABC show be filed in court.

Going by the details in that document - while also trying to be respectful to an individual's financial information - each "Dancing" contestant initially is guaranteed a flat fee (in the thousands) for being in the competition; extra pay is given if the person makes it to weeks three and four, then that extra fee doubles for weeks five through seven. It triples for weeks eight and nine, and an even higher bonus is given for weeks 10 and 11.

Q: I have been watching "Guiding Light" since the early 1950s, and I understand the last episode will air in September. Is there someone or someone I can contact to present this? -Barbara Arnold, Millow Spring, N.C.

A: We can supply the dress of CBS' daytime drama programming department, but the cancellation appeal to be a done deal. That address is 51 W. 52nd St., New York, N.Y. 10019.

However, also not that "Light" may not get out completely come fall. The show's producer, TeleNew Media, apparently has been negotiating to have the show continue elsewhere. At this writing, all the details on that hadn't been specified, so say tuned.

Q: What happened to Darren Radford, host of "Fast Money" on CNBC? -Daniel O'Keefe, Seattle

By Samantha Weaver

It was Clay Ewing, president of a community bank in Indiana, who recently made the following sage observation: "Banking should not be exciting. If banking is exciting, there is something wrong with it."

James Amess, star of the iconic American TV series "Gunsmoke," was more than six and a half feet tall — so tall, in fact, that the makers of the show frequently had him stand in a hole during his scenes so he wouldn't tower over his co-stars.

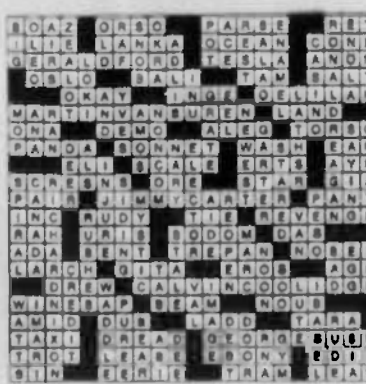

The form-fitting synthetic fabric commonly known as spandex was so named because it's an anagram of "expands."

When you think of a dog herding cattle or sheep, the image in your mind is probably a border collie, a breed well-known for its herding capabilities. You might be surprised to learn that Dalmatians, too, were once used to herd livestock. In fact, that's why they've become an icon of firefighters everywhere. Back when fire engines were actually wagons drawn by teams of horses, Dalmatians accompanied the firefighters to the scene of a disaster in order to herd the horses to a safe place until the blaze was brought under control.

Records of crime statistics say that the top three cities in the United States in terms of cars being stolen are Modesto, Calif.; Las Vegas; and San Diego.

If, like many Americans these days, you're carrying around some extra weight, here's an added incentive to lose those love handles. For every 50 pounds your car loses from its payload, you'll get about a 1 percent improvement in gas mileage. Of course, you could just clean out any junk that's been cluttering up the trunk instead.

Thought for the Day: "Like cars in amusement parks, our direction is often determined through collisions."

On June 6, 1683, the Ashmolean, the world's first university museum, opens in Oxford, England, with collections donated by English archaeologist Elias Ashmole. Today, the collection at the Ashmolean Museum of Art and Archaeology ranges from 500,000-year-old man-made implements to 20th-century works of art.

On June 4, 1876, a mere 83 hours after leaving New York City, the Transcontinental Express train arrives in San Francisco. Suddenly, a journey that had previously taken months using horses could be made in less than a week. Amenities varied from plush velvet seats to narrow wooden benches.

On June 7, 1893, Mohandas K. Gandhi, a young Indian lawyer, commits his first act of civil disobedience. Known as Mahatma, or "the great soul," Gandhi's persuasive methods of civil disobedience influenced leaders of civil-rights movements around the world, especially Martin Luther King Jr.

On June 5, 1922, George W. Carmack, the first person to discover gold along the Klondike River, dies in Vancouver, British Columbia. Unlike many prospectors, Carmack was not consumed by the lust to find gold. He enjoyed playing the organ, reading periodicals and writing sentimental poetry.

On June 2, 1935, Babe Ruth, one of the greatest players in the history of baseball, ends his Major League career after 22 seasons, 10 World Series and 714 home runs. When Ruth died on Aug. 16, 1948, his body lay in state at Yankee Stadium for two days and was visited by more than 100,000 fans.

On June 1, 1949, Lawrence Welk's band begins a two-year stint as the house orchestra for radio show "High Life Review." Though often lampooned for his saccharine style, Welk eventually developed an army of loyal fans and hosted one of the longest-running musical variety shows in history.

On June 3, 1961, Clarence Gideon is arrested and charged with breaking into a poolroom in Florida. The appeal of Gideon's subsequent conviction led to the establishment of one of the chief principles of American criminal justice in what are known as our Miranda rights.

Topical Treatments
for Flea Prevention

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: You recently wrote a long explanation of how to get rid of fleas on pets and in the house. I have two very large (more than 100 pounds) dogs, very furry. Great Pyrenees. I also have seven cats. I have found with the recent developments in treatments, none of the measures you listed are necessary. I have one cat that is hypersensitive to flea saliva. I keep an eye on him, and when I notice the little tell-tale bumps just at the base of his tail, I know we have been infested. I immediately treat all of the animals with either Frontline or Advantage. End of story. No sprays, no bombs, no bathing, fighting cats.

The topical stuff applied between their shoulderblades kills the fleas on them. The remaining fleas in the house and yard jump on the animals to feed, and then are killed. I never have to treat anything but my animals. Even my car interior is fine. The stuff lasts 30 days. I simply treat again as many times as necessary until the frost comes and flea season is over.

As long as my pets are treated regularly, I don't have to worry about any hatching eggs. They just hatch, feed and die. So simple and easy. I hope you will consider suggesting this course of treatment. All of the steps you listed easily could discourage someone from becoming a pet owner, and it does not have to be so difficult and time-consuming. — Debbie S., via e-mail

DEAR DEBBIE: Thanks! Actually, I have recommended topical treatments in the past and used them on my own pets with similar success. However, many of my readers are leery of using a topical treatment, and others tell me it didn't work at all, particularly with outdoor pets. For them, alternative prevention and treatment methods must be explored.

Q. I have a Tested XX Case knife that was given to my grandpa in about 1930. It is encased in green bone tortoise shell and has a 3-inch blade. What is it worth? — Stan, Slinger, Okla.

A. I'll cut right to the chase. According to the American Premium Guide to Knives and Razors by Jim Sargent (Krause, $24.99), your knife was manufactured between 1920 and 1940 and is worth about $250. The value of your knife depends a great deal on its condition. A knife in its original box is worth more than one that has obvious wear.

Q. I read one of your columns that mentioned older lunchboxes. I have a Bonanza lunch pail with images of Ioss, Ben and Little Joe on the front. It was manufactured by Aladdin Industries, and I am curious about how much it might be worth. — Alexander, Black Creek, B.C., Canada

A. I found your lunchbox referenced in Worman's Lunch Boxes Field Guide by Joe Soucy and published by Krause Publications. According to Soucy, your lunchbox is worth about $475. The thermos is listed for $120. As with most collectibles, values depend on three major factors: rarity, demand and condition. You also should realize that values listed in a price guide are only an opinion. It doesn't necessarily mean you can actually get the amount stated in the marketplace. Anyone who has a vintage lunchbox should invest a good deal to purchase this excellent price guide.

Bittinger Parish To Hold Special Worship Service

The Bittinger Lutheran Parish will celebrate the Day of Pentecost with a joint service to be held at St. John's of Meadow Mountain this Sunday, May 31, at 10 a.m. There will also be a special service with Affirmation of Baptism. High school and college graduates of the parish will also be honored.

The church is located along Rt. 495 just south of Glendale Road.

Community Lutheran Partners Inc. (CLP), the social ministry organization of the West Virginia-Western Maryland Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America, has responded to the flooding that occurred recently throughout the southern part of West Virginia, according to a Bittinger Parish spokesperson. CLP is collecting sheets, towels, and utensils for families, and is also requesting churches throughout the synod to build One+Plus kits for immediate distribution to those individuals and families in need of household items. Worshipers are asked to bring items for these kits to the joint service.

Items to be included in these kits are: can opener, wooden matches, pencils and pens, pencil sharpener, rubber bands, sterile wipes, rubber gloves, emergency

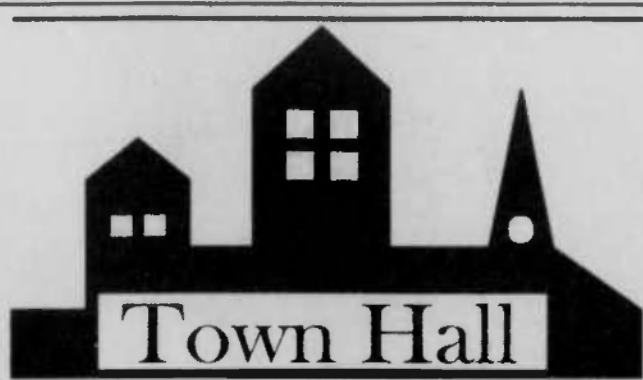

MEMORIAL TREES PLANTED FOR ARBOR DAY - Dennett Road Elementary School students recently participated in Arbor Day activities by adding to the school's arboretum. The students, along with Frances Callis, planted a weeping cherry tree and a walking stick shrub in memory of Andy Callis. Andy, who died in 2008, was head custodian at Dennett Road for eight years. Also planted was a lilac bush in remembrance of Andrea King, who taught at Dennett Road for a number of years. She also died last year. She most recently lived in Memphis, Tenn. The One+Plus kits will be assembled and delivered to CLP at the annual synod assembly, to be hosted by St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, and held June 5-6 at the Wisp Resort.

Pastor Randolph Richardson extends an invitation to everyone to attend this joint service of celebration.

A public hearing will be held at 7:30 to take action on two proposed ordinances: O2009-4, FY 2010 Budget Ordinance; and O2009-5, the ordinance to sell property to Betty Kerins.

MLGC To Raffle Herb Chair, Landscaping Book

Two raffles will be offered during the 9th annual Secret Country Gardens Tour, sponsored by the Mountain Laurel Garden Club (MLGC) and slated for Saturday, June 27, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The prizes of the raffles will be an herb chair planter and a gardening book.

The "herb-garden-in-a-chair" meets goals of the MLGC by promoting recycling and horticultural practices, a spokesperson said, as well as provides an interesting and useful landscape object. The herb committee of the club is preparing the chair to be filled with an assortment of herbs that may be used for cooking, pot-pourri, or enjoyed for their fragrance and visual beauty. The chair may be placed on a deck, porch, or any convenient spot in the garden where the herbs may be cut when needed. Lavender, thyme, sage, oregano, and dill are among some of the herbs to be included.

The second raffle prize will be a book titled Fallscaping by Stephanie Cohen and Nancy Ondra. A recent speaker at the club's annual meeting and known throughout the horticultural world, Cohen has taught herbaceous plants and perennial design at Temple University for more than 20 years. She was the speaker at the ML-

GC's June luncheon last year. Raffle tickets for the two items will be available the day of the tour.

Tickets for the tour itself, which include a short description of each of the four featured gardens, a map, and written directions, may be purchased in advance at the following locations: Gregg's Pharmacy, Jan Florist, and Green Acres Garden Center, Oakland; Nature's Own, McHenry; Annie's Kitchen, Accident; and Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville.

On the day of the tour, members of the Garrett County Historical Society will sell tickets at the Gazebo in Oakland. The cost of a ticket is $7.

Proceeds from the tour will be used by the MLGC for the continued beautification of local communities, as well as the encouragement of gardening and sound conservation practices through club activities and programs. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Garrett County Historical Society and to the Drane House Preservation Fund.

For more information about the tour, persons may contact Kathie Smith at 301334-3249 or log on to www.mountainlaurelgardenclub.com.

Maryland Among Friendliest States For Bicyclists

The League of American Bicyclists named Maryland as an Honorable Mention in its Bicycle Friendly State program. Maryland is one of six bicycle-friendly states recognized for state initiatives to improve conditions for bicyclists.

This year is the first year the organization expanded its program honoring bicycle-friendly communities to highlight states making government efforts for bicyclists. The Bike Friendly State program links the league's work with federal level and community advocacy throughout the nation by recognizing states that actively support bicycling.

"The league is delighted to recognize Maryland as an Honorable Mention for its efforts to welcome bicyclists and make bicycling safer and more enjoyable," said league president Andy Clarke. "We applaud Maryland and our other Bicycle-Friendly State winners for their willingness to invest over the long-term in creating a better, more livable environment for their citizens."

As part of Governor Martin O'Malley's Smart, Green, and Growing Initiative, Maryland has taken a number of steps to improve access and to provide safe bicycling for residents and visitors, according to the league. These efforts range from implementing a 20-year bicycle and pedestrian access master plan and adding bicycle racks to buses to producing comprehensive bicycle safety materials. A key focus, the league says, has been on creating materials aimed at encouraging adults to bicycle safely on Maryland roadways and trails. The Smart, Green, and Growing Initiative is designed to help Maryland achieve a more sustainable future by linking: community revitalization, transportation improvements, economic development, smart growth, and environmental restoration efforts.

"Being recognized as one of six Bicycle-Friendly states nationwide shows how the Smart, Green, and Growing initiative is working to put families first," said Transportation Secretary John D. Porcari. "In addition to a number of efforts here in Maryland, our next step is to launch our Maryland Trails Strategic Implementation Plan that will link 800 miles of existing transportation trails in Maryland. The goal is to provide trails without borders, by filling in the missing links regardless of city, county, or state lines."

One of the key missing links, to be completed in June, is the bicycle trail on the new Woodrow Wilson Bridge that connects Virginia and Maryland. This trail will provide an alternative commuter route and a recreation option with a view of the Potomac River and the nation's capital.

The League of American Bicyclists cited a number of specific efforts Maryland is making that made them stand out, including the following:

- coordination with other states;
- reach and breadth of education efforts by Maryland Department of Transportation (MDOT), Washington Area Bicyclist Association, and One Less Car;
- bike patrol certification;
- creation of a director of bicycle and pedestrian access position at MDOT;
- creation of popular competence and confidence adult bicycle safety video specific to Maryland; and
- establishment of a 20-year bicycle and pedestrian access master plan that provides a detailed perspective from the state's vision of becoming the best state for bicycling by 2023 and the 66 action items needed to get there.

Both Maryland and Delaware were given honorable mention awards, with silver awards going to Washington and Wisconsin, and bronze awards going to Arizona and Minnesota. Applicants completed a detailed, online form, and scoring was based on a 75-item questionnaire evaluating a state's commitment to bicycling and covering six key areas: legislation, policies and programs, infrastructure, education and encouragement, evaluation and planning, and enforcement.

THE REPUBLICAN, OAKLAND, MARYLAND - THURSDAY, MAY 28, 2009 C-1

DAR WELCOMES NEW OFFICERS - The Youghiogheny Glades Daughters of the American Revolution held its annual dinner and installation of officers on May 18 at Will O' the Wisp, with Aletta Martz, the outgoing regent, performing the installation ritual. Pictured above, left to right, are Martz; Joyce Brennam, historian; Beverly Beard, chaplain; Linda Ashby, regent; Martha Kahl, registrar; Doris Goldsborough, recording secretary; Ann Smith, vice regent; Juanita Browning, corresponding secretary; Joann Shaffer, librarian; and Dorothy Cathell, treasurer. The new officers will serve a term of three years.

The League of American Bicyclists promotes bicycling for fun, fitness, and transportation, and works through advocacy and education for a bicycle-friendly America. The league represents the interests of America's 57 million bicyclists, including its 300,000 members and affiliates.

Relief of Osteoarthritis Symptoms

Osteoarthritis is the most common disorder of the body's joints. It is characterized by the loss of cartilage, which is a slippery material that functions as a cushion for joints. In individuals affected by osteoarthritis, the loss of cartilage is measured by the decrease in the width of the joint space, which is the space between the ends of bones in a joint. An X-ray is used to view the decrease in joint space. Joints of the hands, hips, knees, feet, and spine all may be affected. Signs and symptoms of osteoarthritis typically begin as brief episodes of joint stiffness, and later develop into joint pain during motion. While running has not been found to increase the occurrence of this condition, contact sports are known to increase osteoarthritis incidence. Osteoarthritis of the knee also may be increased in persons with jobs that require frequent bending or carrying.

For those who are overweight, weight loss may decrease symptoms of osteoarthritis of the knee. Vitamin D supplementation may be encouraged. Acetaminophen is recommended initially for the treatment of mild symptoms. When acetaminophen does not completely alleviate pain association with osteoarthritis, nonsteroidal anti-inflammatory drugs (NSAIDs), such as ibuprofen and diclofenac, are sometimes prescribed.

A Look At How Trail Development Impacts Jobs And The Economy

Editor's note: The following article is the third in a series submitted by Garrett Trails, a non-profit organization responsible for developing trails in the region.

"Well developed trail systems have a positive economic impact on businesses and county government," said Paige Tegarden, coordinator for Garrett Trails and president of Think Outside.

Recent research done on the Greater Allegheny Passage, a trail that connects Pittsburgh to Cumberland where it merges with the C&O Canal Trail and continues on to Washington, D.C., shows that over 50,000 visitors were realized last year alone, and demonstrates the economic impact of those visitors.

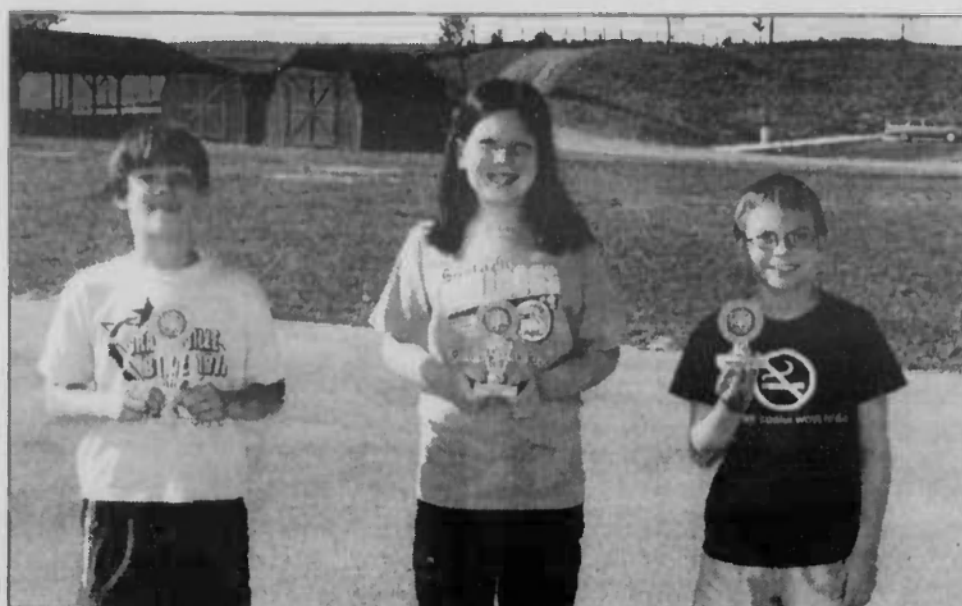

According to this research, trail users spend on average $100 a day during their journeys and businesses attribute anywhere from ¼ to ½ of their 2007 business to the existence of the trail (varying by type of business). In Somerset County, Pa., over 30 businesses attribute their opening to the passage.

The money being spent by trail users translates into new jobs and businesses. A detailed study of the Bruce Trail in Canada notes that trail users annually support over 1,100 full time equivalent jobs in the region and 191 such jobs in communities directly along the trail.

In the Allegheny Passage study, about one-third of outdoor businesses, restaurants, and lodging businesses planned or had created new positions because of trail traffic. The Outer Banks trail system of the Carolinas supports, or has created, 1,400 jobs.

Long trails connecting scenic points (like the Allegheny Passage) and well-developed trail systems like those found in the Outer Banks or Summit County,

Colo., also increase the number of visitors. Trails are attractive features for individuals of all ages and families as they consider vacation destinations.

The Outer Banks, a potential competitor for Deep Creek Lake visitors, recently invested $6.7 million in the development of bicycle trails. According to visitor surveys, the bicycle facilities in the area are an important factor for many tourists in deciding to visit the region. Further, 53% of visitors report bicycling as a strong influence in making a decision to return for subsequent visits and 43% report bicycling as an important factor in selecting this area for vacationing. In the recent Garrett County Chamber of Commerce survey of visitors to our area, 81% said trails were moderately to extremely important to them.

Further, in these challenging economic times, trails are a low-cost, fun activity. "The frontier of the mid-18th century is still here. Our Scenic Byway is called 'Mountain Maryland' for a reason. We hope people will think about Garrett County and its abundance of public parks, scenic areas, and growing trail network as a pocketbook friendly destination," said Charlie Ross, president of the Garrett Chamber of Commerce and treasurer of Garrett Trails.

Walking, hiking, biking, cross-country skiing, and the hundreds of other active uses of trails have always seemed good for our physical health and the research shows it may also be good for our county's fiscal health.

In studies conducted by the Maryland Department of Transportation, a $191,893 investment in Maryland's Northern Central Rail Trail increased state revenues by $303,750 the same year the trail opened.

In the Outer Banks, over the past 10 years, an estimated $6.7 million in public funds was spent to construct off-road paths and add wide paved shoulders to roads in the region, which resulted in nearly 10 times as much related revenue - $60 million each year.

Garrett County has over 80,000 acres of public land, more than any other county in Maryland. As Mike Dreisbach, owner of Savage River Lodge and co-chair of the Green Committee, says, "Our spectacular lakes, rivers and mountains have made us an important vacation destination and community of choice for many. Leveraging these assets in ways that don't destroy them, but instead add value and encourage active stewardship of them, is the kind of development we should be seeking. An outstanding trail network can be a quintessential component of a sustainable, economic development strategy."

To get involved, persons may visit the Garrett Trails web site at www.GarrettTrails.org, or contact Paige Tegarden, of Think Outside and Garrett Trails coordinator, at GarrettTrails@gmail.com.

GROUND BROKEN FOR TRAIL
A groundbreaking was held recently at the Terra Alta Community Park for the new park trail, a 6-foot-wide, 1-mile walking trail that will pass through the park, across Toy Street, and over to land owned by the Preston County Board of Education, where it will connect to the East Preston Middle School oval track.

The new trail will connect the two main gathering points of the town: the community park and the East Preston Middle School. A round trip from the park over to the school track and back will provide persons with a 2 1/3 mile walk through park-like settings and away from traffic and noise.

The trail will be constructed of tightly packed crushed limestone, will be ADA accessible, and is expected to be completed this summer. Funding for the new trail was provided to the town of Terra Alta through a $40,000 grant from the Federal Highway Administration that is administered through the West Virginia Division of Highways under the West Virginia Department of Transportation's Recreational Trail Program. The matching grant requirements were met with $10,000 of local funds contributed equally by Terra Alta Betterment Inc. (TABI) and the Terra Alta Economic Development Corporation (TAEDC). The Preston County public school system gave permission for part of the trail to be constructed on school property.

The federal grant was written by TABI volunteers, and the supervision of the construction and maintenance of the trail will be provided by Mayor Charles Feather and the town of Terra Alta. The company of Courtney Contracting Corporation was selected as the contractor for the project through a federally mandated competitive bid process.

TERRA ALTA PUBLIC LIBRARY
The books Just A School Project by Mercer Mayer and When The Light Goes by Larry McMurtry were given to the Terra Alta Public Library by Dorothy Bolyard in memory of Louie Bolyard. Flam Leavin' by Janet Evanovich and numerous paperbacks were given in memory of Rose Nordeck Minor by Joyce Fisher.

Those in attendance were Sarah Hart, Brianna Volkman, Aidan Hart, Skylar Logston, Stephen Hart, Brandon Volkman, Alexis Hart, Arabella McCloud, Mikey Hart, and Camdyn Hill. They were also led outside to see a recycling truck, and were told about what is good to recycle and what isn't.

The book Don't Throw It Away by JoAnn Nelson was read. The children then had the opportunity to ask questions and point out different recyclable items displayed on tables.

AURORA CEOS
The Aurora Community Education Outreach Service club met at the home of Dee Douglas for their regular meeting recently. President Opal Myers called the 7 p.m. meeting to order with nine members present. The hostess led the devotions using "Magnets and Mothers" from Our Daily Bread, followed by prayer.

Myers led the study on candle-making. Several members were familiar with the craft and it was discovered that candlemaking is one of the oldest types of needlework, originating in the 1600s. It was derived from the use of French and Colonial knots of cord used for candle wicks. Done in designs, bedspreads, pillows, and clothing were objects of the design craft.

Myers, Dee Douglas, and Keith Douglas recently attended the area meeting in New Cumberland. They also visited the Fiesta Glass Outlet in Weirton.

Myers, Rennie Conrad, Martha Bolyard, and Dee Douglas recently met at the Douglas home to prepare an exhibit to be displayed in the Aurora History Center during CEOS Week. The display depicts the history of the Aurora Club, which is the oldest in Preston County, begun as the Farm Women's Club.

The club has been asked to help with Heritage Days June 12-14 and will participate in the yard sale on Saturday, June 13, at the Union Ambulance squad hall. Raffle tickets will be sold there to benefit Relay for Life. The group will also be cooperating with the Aurora Historical Society at the Buckwheat Festival to highlight the history of Aurora.

A work day is planned for June 21 to work on Boo-Boo Bear and Linus blankets. The monthly motivator program discussed healthy joints and how to keep them healthy with walking, dancing, aerobics, and stretching exercises. The vice president's special by Rennie Conrad highlighted tips on saving money, according to those given in AARP Magazine. Dee Douglas brought a homemade card received from a '56 "Chick" friend on Mother's Day as another display.

Conrad will be the hostess of the June 16 meeting at 7 p.m., Bolyard will lead the program, and Dorothy Spaid will give devotions. New visitors are always welcome to attend.

In Memory of William Arnold (Pop) Savage

Died - May 24, 1978

Dad, when the Lord called you home we knew you could not stay. The Lord needed you, and said, come. Tears filled our eyes, sadness filled our hearts, because we loved you so much.

The life you lived, the love you showed, for family, friends, and especially the children, who were your pride and joy. The laughter, the fun times, these now are our treasures and memories that will last forever. Thank you Dad, for those moments we shared with you. We all sure do miss you, and love you very much. How awesome, how precious to be in the Presence of our Lord. We will see you again one day. We have hope in the Lord Jesus Christ.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

AMENDMENTS TO THE GARRETT COUNTY WATER AND SEWERAGE MASTER PLAN

Town of Grantsville, Maryland

North Tract and East Tract Annexation of 2007
Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, June 16, 2009, at 9:00 a.m. in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider amendments to the Garrett County Water and Sewerage Master Plan. Summaries of the proposed amendments are as follows:

North Tract Annexation

In 2007, the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville annexed approximately 131.70 acres of land into the town limits known as the North Tract Annexation. The annexed area is located from current town boundaries north along Dorsey Hotel Road to Goodwill Retirement Community including Parcels 27 and 28, as referenced on Map 8 of the Maryland Department of Planning's property mapping system. It is the Town's intent to extend public water service to this area. Infrastructure to serve the North Tract will connect to the town's system on Miller Street, run east to Pennsylvania Avenue, then extend north on Pennsylvania Avenue and along the eastern property line of Parcel 28 to the Goodwill Retirement Community property. Sewer service for Parcels 27 and 28 will be the owner's/developer's expense and will connect to the town's system on Parkview Drive. The Goodwill Retirement Community is already served by public sewer through the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities.

East Tract Annexation

In 2007, the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville annexed approximately 74.93 acres of land into the town limits known as the East Tract Annexation. The annexed area includes parcels east of the existing town limits along Route 40/National Pike to River Road. It is the Town's intent to extend public water service to this area. Water lines to serve the East Tract will connect to the present town system behind the elementary school off School Alley. A new 12-inch line will run parallel with Interstate 68/National Freeway, cross through Parcel 60 to intersect with Route 40/National Pike, cross the Casselman River with a water main attached to the bridge, and extend along Route 40/National Pike to River Road. A 6-inch water main will be installed along River Road to the point where the roadway intersects the Casselman River. Public sewer service is provided to a portion of the East Tract by the Ghestnut Ridge Sanitary District which is operated by the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities. The remaining portion of the annexed area is served by the Town of Grantsville or utilizes on-site sewage disposal.

Mapping of the annexed areas and the complete text of the proposed amendments can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, June 16, 2009, in order to determine if incorporation of the proposed amendments will promote public health, safety and welfare in the annexed areas.

By Order of the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland
R. Lamont Pagenhardt
County Administrator

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

by Lucretia Sines

A benefit spaghetti dinner was recently held for my husband Kenny to help with medical expenses after being diagnosed with prostate cancer. The benefit was held at the Northern Garrett Rescue Squad building in Friendsville and was given by the Northern Garrett auxiliary and squad members.

The dinner was well attended by lots of Garrett Countyans, and we would like to thank everyone for the outstanding support. It was of great encouragement to see the many people who detoured away from their busy schedules just to come and support the event and to provide many well wishes a person wants to be "in charge" of life, we are not the ones in control at all.

Kenny found his cancer through a simple blood test that led to a biopsy that was positive, so we want to encourage all males of at least age 50 to get the simple blood test, called a PSA, because prostate cancer can be curable if caught early enough.

Kenny is healing nicely, and life is getting back to normal. We will never be able to express our gratitude to everyone, but we would really like to thank all who helped with the dinner and those who participated in any way to help make it such a success. It was greatly appreciated by us, and your kindness will never be forgotten. God bless you all!

G'ville Senior Center To Offer Exercise Classes

The Grantsville Senior Center will be offering a stability ball exercise class on Tuesdays and Thursdays beginning June 2, from 10:30 to 11 a.m.

Adults 55 and older are invited and encouraged to attend. Suzanne Carley will be teaching the class. The class is free of charge, and participants are asked to wear comfortable clothes.

For more information, persons may contact Lois Ford at 301-895-5818.

WHY ARE ROBINS' EGGS BLUE? The robin is certainly not blue. Not one blue feather. But her eggs are lovely little gems the color of a summer sky. No answers were offered online, although the question has apparently stumped people for ages. One scientist even experimented with painting various eggs different colors, which had no effect on predators. So it is not related to safety. Indeed, the color seems to jump out to anyone passing by, at least to the human eye. It is a mystery yet unsolved, which makes it perhaps all the more fun to ponder. These tiny twins of springtime were found in a bush at an Underwood Road, Oakland, property. Photo by Melodee Hill.

365 To Graduate From NHS And SHS On Sunday

A total of 365 seniors will graduate from Northern and Southern high schools this Sunday, with Southern's graduation slated for 1 p.m. and Northern's ceremony scheduled for 4 p.m.

It was noted by superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets that all 151 NHS seniors and all 214 SHS seniors met the Maryland School Assessment (MSA) requirements to graduate. As of this past week, several students were completing community service graduation requirements, and some were studying to receive passing grades on their finals.

"Garrett County is one of only eight or nine counties in Maryland to have all seniors complete the MSAs with passing scores," noted Teets.

Southern High will hold its awards assembly this evening beginning at 7 p.m. Northern High presented awards and scholarships at an evening ceremony last week. Next week's issue of The Republican will feature the Senior Edition, which will include details on both NHS and SHS graduation and awards events.

McHenry Home Searched By NTF; One Man Arrested

A search and seizure warrant executed by the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force and members of the Garrett County Sheriff's Office resulted in the arrest of a McHenry man Wednesday on controlled dangerous substance violations.

Nathan Allen Murphy, 26, was arrested on several CDS charges after police searched his Oakland Sang Run Road residence. The search led to the recovery of a quantity of marijuana, Suboxone, marijuana pipes, and digital scales. Also seized was $75 in U.S. currency.

Murphy is charged with possession with intent to distribute marijuana, possession of Suboxone, and possession of CDS paraphernalia. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where he was held on $4,000 bond.

"UM... MUST I WAIT TO BE SEATED?" could be on the mind of this black bruin who showed up in the parking lot of Jearbryo's Casual Dining Restaurant along Bumble Bee Road in McHenry this past week, apparently in search of a free meal. People are reminded to not intentionally lure bears with food, as their behavior is relatively unpredictable. Generally, a shout and/or the clapping of one's hands will send them on their way; however, females are often accompanied by cubs at this time of year, so humans should be aware of that and keep their distance while enjoying their presence. This photo was taken by Scott Sisler, Foster Road.

First Redneck Dayz Slated At Broadford Park

Plans are being finalized for the first Redneck Dayz, which is scheduled for Saturday, June 20, at Broadford Park.

Mark Marucci, representing the Oakland-Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club, said that the day will include a variety of events and "fun for the entire family," including the Official Redneck Games, the Redneck Regatta, individual games, live musical entertainment, a massive yard sale, and lots of food items and beverages.

The park gates will open at 7 a.m., and admission cost will be $2 per carload.

The Official Redneck Games, slated to begin around noon, will include a tractor pull, a sani-pot race, a four-legged race, and a NASCAR pit crew race, with four-person teams competing for a grand prize of a 19-foot fiberglass boat with motor and trailer. The entry fee is $50 per team.

The Redneck Regatta, Marucci explained, is for "anything that floats - ex-

Stewart Trial Is Postponed

Garrett County state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch announced this week that the district court trial involving former Oakland funeral director Bradley Allen Stewart has been postponed. The trial was originally slated to get under way yesterday.

Thayer Welch said that William Saltysiak, counsel for Stewart, had filed a motion with the court requesting additional time to review the evidence and to prepare for trial. A new trial date has not yet been set.

Stewart turned himself in to authorities in February for crimes allegedly committed between November 2005 and September 2008 that involved the theft of an estimated $170,000. He allegedly depleted the accounts of customers who had signed prearranged funeral contracts.

Stewart's license was suspended by the Maryland State Board of Morticians in July of last year. He had been licensed to practice mortuary science in Maryland since 1971.

Grantsville Man Sentenced To One Year In Jail

A 32-year-old Grantsville man pleaded guilty recently in Garrett County Circuit Court to driving under the influence of alcohol. Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced Jeffrey Lee Gilpin to one year in the Garrett County Jail and suspended six months of the sentence. Gilpin will be on probation when he is released from jail. He was also fined $200.

Gilpin was arrested and charged by Maryland State Police last August during the investigation of a motor vehicle accident on Rt. 495 at the exit ramp from westbound I-68.

Gilpin had pulled from the ramp onto southbound Rt. 495 and had struck a motorcycle. Both the driver and passenger on the motorcycle were hospitalized with severe injuries, the state's attorney noted.

In other court proceedings, Larry Dean Wilt, 50, Grantsville, pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of alcohol. Sherbin

STUDENTS PLACE IN STOCK MARKET GAME - Four Southern High School students were recently recognized as overall Western Region winners with first and second place finishes for the Spring 2009 Stock Market Game. All are in Athena Wilson's accounting II and stock market classes. Brian Baker finished the game in first place, and Andrew McCreery, Nicholas Crabree, and Christopher Schad finished in second place. In the front row are Crabree, Baker, and McCreery. Back row: Rob Sharps, PrimeVest Financial, and Wilson. Absent from the photo: Christopher Schad. See story for details.

SHS Students Place In Maryland Stock Market Game™

Four students in Athena Wilson's Southern High School accounting II and stock market classes have recently been recognized as overall Western Region winners with first- and second-place finishes for the Spring 2009 Stock Market Game. Brian Baker finished the game in first place, and Andrew McCreery, Nicholas Crabree, and Christopher Schad finished in second place.

Baker finished with a simulated portfolio value of $115,817.22 and first-place overall in the Western Region high school division by defeating 120 other teams in Garrett, Allegany, Washington, and Frederick counties. McCreery, Crabree, and Schad managed a second-place regional finish in the high school division with a portfolio worth $115,138.11 in the spring 2009 session of Maryland/

D.C. Stock Market Game™ competition, organized by the Maryland Council on Economic Education (MCEE).

Wilson uses the competition as a "high-interest enriching activity" in her classroom and competed during the 10-week period of the game in the adult division, managing to place fifth in the state of Maryland with her investments within that division. Nine student teams from SHS participated in the competition, and each team began with an imaginary $100,000. Over a 10-week period, the students invested in corporations on the New York, American, and NASDAQ markets in an attempt to increase the size of their portfolios.

Rob Sharps, local sponsor of the game from PrimeVest Financial, has been seen as a key component in the success of the students throughout the years. He visits the classrooms and gives guidance on what the students should look for in successful investment for the 10-week game and strategies for lifelong investing, as well as the importance of financial literacy.

The Stock Market Game requires student teams to formulate daily or weekly decisions about the direction of the markets, make choices about buying or selling corporate stocks, and enter them on the Internet. The students then receive their team's portfolio statement, which shows how their team ranks compared to all of the other teams in the Maryland/D.C. region and their school system, as well as the current value of their stocks. Prizes range from a plaque for first place to a certificate for participation.

The Maryland Council on Economic Education offers the Stock Market Game to students and teachers throughout Maryland and Washington, D.C., each spring and fall. The Stock Market Game is an educational simulation that teaches about the stock markets, the American economic system, and the global economy.

Participants develop skills in math, language arts, research, and critical thinking, while building and maintaining a stock portfolio. It is used in grades 4 through 12, in college courses, and by those who seek to learn more about investing.

Since 1977, over 8 million students have participated in this national program. In the 2009 school year, more than 18,000 students from Maryland and Washington, D.C., participated in the program through the Maryland Council on Economic Education.

The Maryland Council on Economic Education (MCEE) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that has been training teachers and providing Maryland school systems with curriculum support for over 50 years. The MCEE along with its division, the Maryland Coalition for Financial Literacy (MCFL), aim to ensure that Maryland's students leave school prepared to make responsible economic and personal finance decisions.

More information about the MCEE and MCFL can be found at www.econed.org and/or www.mdfinancialskills.org.

Garrett College Conducts 37th Annual Commencement May 16

Garrett College students celebrated their academic achievements during the college's 37th annual commencement ceremony, held Saturday, May 16, in the gymnasium. Ninety associate's degrees and 48 certificates were conferred.

"Graduation is always an exciting and joyful day," said Dr. Rebecca DiLiddo, GC dean of academic affairs. "It is a time to celebrate individual achievement, while recognizing that each graduate has been supported by family, friends, faculty, and staff. No graduate walks across the stage alone. We wish them all the best."

Dr. Jeanne Neff, Garrett College president, offered her own well wishes for the graduates.

"Our graduates are the best proof of the quality of the education we offer at Garrett College - we're very proud of them for their achievements," Dr. Neff said.

Guest speaker Senator George C. Edwards, a native of Garrett County, offered the graduates inspirational outlooks on their future endeavors.

Other participants of the commencement ceremony included Elizabeth Biser, director of juvenile justice at the college, who gave the invocation and benediction, and Kenneth Noland, solo piper.

Dr. Neff made introductions, noted outstanding contributions, and conducted the conferral of degrees. Dr. DiLiddo announced degree and certificate candidates, and presented graduate awards.

Of the 138 students who graduated, 48 received associate of arts degrees, 42 received associate in applied science degrees, and 48 received certificates. One student was awarded both an associate's degree and a certificate, and two students were each awarded two certificates.

The 2009 Garrett College associate in arts degree recipients are as follows:

A Last Gasp...

The Maryland Public Service Commission will conduct a public hearing at Garrett College next Thursday evening and will then no doubt approve an application from Synergics Wind LLC to proceed with the installation of huge wind turbines on Backbone Mountain in Garrett County. While it will likely not matter if the GC auditorium is packed that evening with persons opposed to wind turbines, it seems nonetheless important for those masses to show up anyway. This may be the last gasp for those of us who do not want these turbines in our county; a final opportunity to at least tell the PSC members face to face that a huge mistake is about to be made, one that is virtually irreversible, one that could likely be devastating to the future of our county.

A number of local persons have been extremely vocal against these things, both orally and in letters and advertisements in this newspaper. Some consider these persons (yours truly probably included) as just rabble rousers, complainers, and obstructionists. But there are many other people in high places throughout the country (far more intelligent than yours truly) who have the same concerns and are making the same predictions about wind-power installations. The rest of this column consists of comments from just two of them.

Ronald Daniels is a Yale graduate and current president of Johns Hopkins University. A native Canadian, he was asked to serve as chair of the Electricity Market Design Committee for the province of Ontario, after which he wrote an article titled "Wind power is great politics but lousy policy." Following are excerpts from that article.

"Industrial wind-turbine power cannot be relied on to provide peaking capacity, because of its intermittent character (as demonstrated in Denmark, Germany, and other European countries).

"Wind power is very expensive compared to some conventional forms of electricity generation; for base-load power, it makes no sense to displace lower-cost, low-carbon hydro and nuclear generation.

"Taking Canada as a whole, electricity generation accounts for only 14 per cent of Canada's total carbon dioxide emissions (with transportation, oil and gas production and refining representing 50 per cent).

"Better integration of the provincial market with surrounding electricity markets is likely to give Ontario the flexibility it needs to meet variable demand at much lower cost than massive public investments in subsidized wind power."

To emphasize the actual negative effects of some wind installations on property owners, wildlife, and the environment, as well as the futility of trying to hold the wind companies responsible, we turn to comments made in an interview with Democrat New York Congressman Eric Massa, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy.

"These wind turbines generate so much noise that the very homes on the properties that leased agreements to the wind turbines now can't be occupied. Now I'm not making this up. I have been in my office with a virtual flood of constituents who have come to me, both on and off properties that were leased to the wind companies, saying that they can't live in the houses anymore, yet they can't sell them."

"Hunters are now coming up and telling me that there's no wildlife anywhere within distance, and I'm talking three to four miles, of any of these wind turbines because these wind turbines emit low frequency vibrations that drive the deer away.... I know that sounds like an exaggeration. But it's not an exaggeration. Anybody who can tell you about animals in the wild will tell you they hear frequencies that humans cannot. And the low-frequency vibrations from these industrial wind turbines drive the deer away. It'll be the end of hunting for us."

"We're going to have hundreds of these industrial wind turbines broken and rusting and spilling oil that will cost hundreds of millions of dollars to take down and return those forests to what they were so we can go back to enjoying them and attracting people for what they come here for."

"The immediate supposition is that the source of the problem is culpable for the property degradation. That's generally the rule, but the wind companies then seek protection by saying - well, the town boards and the local towns gave us permission to do that, it's their problem. The town board says - yeah, but the IDA gave us permission to do this, so it's their problem. Then all of a sudden, a single family has to go running around, all up and down trying to get someone to help them when they are given the run around."

As for the noise problem, he said, "When people went to the town board and complained and said - listen, you guys voted to put these things up here, it exceeds the noise limit. The town board said - well, don't talk to us, talk to the wind company. They went to the wind company, the wind company said - not our problem; the town board issued us a permit. And this is how you end up going in that circular run around that drives people crazy and they

Sorry, readers, that this column is so unusually long today, but this is so important to our future and our quality of life. And our county elected officials have done zero to try to protect us.

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

Two weeks ago we returned home, after a two-hour absence, to find evidence of an intruder - a door ajar, a missing window screen, and a strange man running down the back driveway. We have lived in this quiet neighborhood for nearly 40 years and have always felt safe. An incident like this is a real jolt to your peace of mind.

The real reason for this letter is to give the Garrett Co. Sheriff's Office some well-deserved praise. We in the far eastern part of the county sometimes feel a little out of the loop, but not in this case. Within a very short time we had two deputies here and a third following a lead. Within three days a suspect was in custody. We could not have asked for a more professional, efficient, but also polite and caring, response. We have been kept informed during the whole process.

Everyone should feel safer knowing that we can rely on professionals like Deputy K. Parks and Detective Aaron Wilson, and the rest of the Sheriff's Office.

Sincerely,
George and Linda Walker

To the Editor:

I would like to encourage as many people as possible to attend the PSC hearing that has been scheduled for next Thursday, June 11, at 7 p.m. to review the Synergics application for a PCPN exemption request from the standard review processes for new wind plants.

I realize that many have been discouraged by the flagrant disregard of your opinions in the wind energy debate at both the local and state level, but it is important that we get a large turnout to counter the propaganda that will be presented by Synergics at this meeting.

I recommend that you stress several issues that the PSC may be forced to consider in spite of the new regulations created by the passage of Senate Bill 566:

• Safety risks to adjacent property owners (which is of personal concern to my neighbors and me).

• The questionable ethics of how Wayne Rogers and Synergics used political influence and campaign contributions to obtain legislation that financially benefits that company at the expense of people's safety and the environment.

• The need for the state to obtain independent and unbiased analysis of the benefits and drawbacks of wind energy.

• Any detailed facts that address the alleged financial benefits that wind plants purportedly bring to a local economy, including numbers and types of jobs.

• Provisions for decommissioning and removing wind turbines that will become idle once the lucrative tax subsidies go away.

Unfortunately, arguments against wind plants based solely on aesthetic or environmental reasons won't be enough to force the property. My wife and I have owned this property for 36 years, and we have maintained the acreage as a tree farm for the last 25+ years. We feel that our property would be well served once they install and operate windmills and begin to generate power, which as we all know is desperately needed in this country, and we feel that we might just end up being a part of the national energy solution.

We do understand that many of the part-time residents in the resort areas object to their views being marred by the sight of windmills, but they also object to the rising cost of power.

Some residents object to deer eating their plants, and then object to the hunters that hunt these deer. They just seem to pop out of the woodwork and object to whatever subject is current in the area at the time. Seems that many of us want the benefits, but do not want any changes to our lifestyle.

We sincerely hope that the negative types do not affect the outcome of this important venture, as it would be a shame to have the suffer for the few!

Sincerely,
Robert H. Lindgren

To the Editor:

On June 11, the Public Service Commission will conduct a public hearing at the Garrett College auditorium (7 p.m.) before approving an application from Synergics Wind LLC to place a massive wind installation atop Roth Rock. Although the hearing will have no outcome on any PSC decision about this project (it is merely perfunctory in these cases), I believe it is important for people here to have their say. In many ways, the hearing represents the worst of our state and local political process, since it's merely window dressing, giving people an opportunity to be heard, but shutting them out of any influence on the outcome. Such is the state of democracy in 2009.

Several years ago, the Synergics' CEO and former fund-raiser for the state's Democratic Party was angered because the PSC seemed to be on the verge of scaling back his company's initial proposal. And so he eventually withdrew his earlier application and got a lot of help from his friends - former Speaker of the House Cas Taylor, who had become a prominent wind lobbyist, and Mike Miller, president of the Senate. Together, they steamrolled a bill through the legislature exempting wind projects from any meaningful regulatory review. All Rogers' limited liability company need do these days is to secure grid interconnection approval. Rogers himself has rather notoriously said, when evading a direct answer about local tax revenues from his project: "I'll do whatever the law requires." Which is a great policy if your friends can change the law to suit your interests.

The leadership of the state's Democratic Party evidently believes it can put the screws to the people and resources of Garrett County, without any adverse consequence, knowing that local officials will react impotently, if at all.

Rogers' wind project would degrade the viewshed of the southern county for generations and negatively impact both wildlife and property owners in the area. At the same time it won't dent a grape in the scheme of our energy situation, and may actually make things worse.

To the Editor:

I own property located on Backbone Mountain, and have signed up to have windmills situated on the

As an intervenor in the prior PSC/Synergics application process, it was easy to document that the LLC could not substantiate any of its claims. What did emerge is that the project was not about energy. Rather, it was a mechanism for tax shelters for large corporations.

The project is a scam; the political process is disgraceful. Let's give the PSC an earful.

To the Editor:

I am one of many land owners in Garrett County who hold deeds from back in the early 1900s that have a company called Manor Mining & Mfg. holding our mineral rights in reserve. When I bought my land in 1993 from Claude Franklyn Harvey Jr., it had been leased in 1973 to 1979 to Grafton Coal. Mr. Harvey Sr. was paid rent and royalties for coal extraction.

Although the deed stated that Manor Mining & Mfg. held the rights, it was believed that Mr. Harvey had them at that time because of mining activities being performed on this land. This should have transferred to me, but now I am being told that Manor Mining & Mfg., a company which no longer exists, still holds them.

I have done all the research I can do. My work has involved lawyers, archives, title searches, mining company inquiries, and contacting the Bureau of Mines. I need help from the people up there who might know where to find this info. Can anyone out there help? I am sure many others want to know!

Also, all land owners there should be aware that there are two bills that have been introduced which may help owners who have lost mineral rights to have them returned to the surface owners. They are SB 775 and HB 748, which will be reintroduced next year. They will need the support of owners in this situation.

Thank you,
Anthony Bogan

To the Editor:

Your recent editorial concerning the swine flu may not have been a service to your readers. The sense of urgency that you referred to in the press is due primarily to the fact that this flu is an unknown entity. It has the potential of being quite serious worldwide, and so all precautions should be taken. It is a flu virus (H1N1) related to the infamous Spanish influenza epidemic in the 1918 which killed 40 million people worldwide. This, this new player is not to be taken lightly.

It is also obvious that we are not now in a flu season. That will come in the fall and winter time when this virus will still be around and potentially could cause worldwide havoc. So, until the characteristics of the swine flu has been evaluated, it is wise for all people to take precautions as outlined, including hand washing, remaining at home if having flu symptoms, and notifying your doctor of your problem. Fortunately, the swine flu virus appears to be weakened by the Tamiflu medication. It is hoped that a vaccine will be developed which will give protection, in addition to the regular seasonal flu vaccine.

In short, this influenza virus must be taken seriously now, through the rest of this year, and into next year. As usual, common-sense precautions can go a long way to help protect people and their contacts.

Sincerely yours,

To the Editor:

Weather permitting, it may be time to try a new hobby. I had the privilege of being a summer resident in Garrett County for over 40 years, and always found something new there to bide my time.

While building a residence on part of the mountain at the Wisp, I came across a wide range of loose rocks in the Appalachian strand which fronted the house, and found many fossils dating back 270 million years. It has always been an interesting hobby filled with surprises.

Those already interested in fossils will be interested to find the lepidodendron (scale tree) and many calamites (needle-shaped tube plant fossils) were born in the carboniferous period. This all sounds like I know what I am talking about, but I only wanted to point out that there is yet another alternative to the television and cell phone lifestyle. Experiencing sunshine, fresh air, and fossils is another way to brighten an otherwise common day.

Living in Garrett County was never without something to do, as the area is filled with natural wonders, like the Cranesville Swamp, Lost Land State Park near Deer Park... Toss in the many recreational places at Deep Creek Lake and you have a perfect setting.

Have a wonderful summer. See you soon... perhaps at the Adventure Sports whitewater pavilion. Now there are some pretty good rocks to ponder.

To the Editor:

Possibly the most important article in your paper this year was scattered irregularly across pages A-13 and A-14 of your May 28 issue. It was a bulletin from the Maryland Attorney General's Office about how to recognize a fraudulent charity.

Scamming the elderly is a full-time business to lots of really bad people. Many of us living in Garrett County are retired, and hence make attractive targets. This article told about one unscrupulous telephone-calling outfit that was keeping over 83% of the money it raised. Moreover, the article warned how to avoid getting taken in by the crooks.

GCCAC First Homeowners Program Has Lowered Down Payment Amount

Garrett County Community Action has recently announced the reduction of the down payment requirement for the First Time Homeowner Program.

The agency has two financing options for eligible first-time homebuyers. The Leveraged Program is a partnership in which the buyers obtain mortgages for the home purchase through First United Bank & Trust, United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) Rural Housing Services, and the 20% down payment assistance through GCCAC.

First United currently offers these buyers a fixed 4.95% interest rate on the portion that it loans. USDA's portion, with the current fixed rate of 4.625%, also offers subsidy assistance where, based upon the borrower's income and household size, one may pay a lower interest rate. Borrowers only need to have a down payment of 1% of the purchase price of their own money.

The second financing option is the 80/20 Program. This option allows the buyer to obtain a mortgage loan for 80% of the purchase price from the lender of one's choice. The 20% down payment then comes from GCCAC. In the past, the agency requirement for this program was a 3% down payment from the borrowers.

Deb Swiger, homeownership administrator for GCCAC, reports that the agency has reduced the borrower's contribution to 1%. This means that both financing options that GCCAC offers for eligible first-time homebuyers now just require a 1% contribution from the homebuyer.

"We feel that it may be easier for some of our prospective buyers to be able to purchase their first home if we reduce the amount of money that they need to save for their down payment," said Swiger. "This is the year for prospective buyers to purchase their first home."

With the assistance that the Community Action program has to offer, eligible buyers can qualify for up to 20% of the purchase price of the home through a low interest loan. There will be no monthly payments on the 20% loan, and it will be forgiven over time. That is in addition to the new $8,000 tax credit from the federal government if the home is purchased before Dec. 1, 2009.

The first step in Community Action's First Time Homeowner Program is to attend the First Time Homeowner workshops. The workshops are held every month, and for each person consist of 6½ hours of training divided into two evening classes. These classes are currently held on Monday evenings. Participants learn about the loan programs, the process of becoming a homeowner, the importance of budgeting, the loan application process, pre-qualifying for a mortgage, home inspections, home maintenance, and the settlement process.

"A key part of the workshops," said Swiger, "is an evaluation of the participant's credit report with a loan officer from one of the local banks." Several local professionals involved in all aspects of home-buying and ownership volunteer their time and expertise at the workshops.

Loan officers are on hand from First United Bank & Trust to individually meet with each family and review that family's credit report. In the event the credit report reveals obstacles in that family's ability to secure a loan, suggestions and a plan are proposed to the participants to enable them to eventually work through the problems.

Local attorney Craig Ingram explains the settlement process, and local realtors discuss shopping for a home, how to make an offer, and what a sales contract is. Home insurance agents and professional home inspectors give insight in these areas as well.

To be successful in this program, a participant must have a strong employment history with dependable and adequate income, be within the income guidelines, have a good credit history, and attend the workshops.

"Participants need to be committed to setting realistic goals, be willing to work on credit issues if needed, be willing to save money, and not give up their goal if problems arise," Swiger commented. "Circumstances which may keep a prospective borrower from purchasing a home today can be corrected if they remain focused on the goal of homeownership. We like to think of our program as a hand up, and not a hand-out."

Those interested in the First Time Homeowner Program should contact Swiger at 301-334-9431 or toll free at 1-888-817-8403.

On June 11, the Public Service Commission will conduct a public hearing in Garrett County on Synergies Wind LLC's application to place a massive wind project along Backbone Mountain near Table Rock. As a public service, CREF is reprinting below The Washington Post's account (published on July 23, 2007) of how Synergies' executive, Wayne L. Rogers, a former chairman of the state's Democratic Party Central Committee, colluded with prominent politicians downstate in order to pass legislation that rescinded the normal PSC regulatory process required for other power plants. The Post reporter should also have mentioned former Speaker of the House Cas Taylor's role in this effort, since, soon after his election defeat in 2002, he became a prominent wind lobbyist and worked to secure General Assembly passage of Rogers' wind "deregulation" bill, in addition to lobbying for wind projects on state lands (in this he was joined by the county commissioners, among others). Rogers sought this legislation because the PSC seemed on the verge of shrinking his initial wind project proposal in order to protect state-endangered species. Last year, he formally withdrew his original application and now seeks consideration under the new law that eliminates any environmental or social-economic review for wind projects in the state. Indeed the only requirements now are grid interconnection approval and a public hearing, where none of the limited liability company claims can be substantiated under oath, and which will have no influence on the project's approval.

With Close Contacts, Md. Wind Project Gets Boost

By Lisa Rein

Washington Post Staff Writer

Monday, July 23, 2007; B01

When his plan for clean energy ran smack into a rare habitat on a rocky Appalachian ridge, Annapolis businessman Wayne L. Rogers turned to people he knew could help: his contacts in the Maryland General Assembly.

State law and the environmental protections it afforded all but scuttled his proposal last year for 24 windmills atop Backbone Mountain at the state's western edge. So Rogers waged a successful campaign to have the law changed — and environmental review gutted — for wind-energy projects such as his.

The case began three years ago when Rogers, a well-connected Maryland Democrat, applied to put up 26-story wind turbines on the state's highest spot, in Garrett County, 1½ miles from the West Virginia line. The wind farm, he said, could power 20,000 homes.

Wind farms are turning air into electricity across the country. But they've been a tough sell in Maryland, where the best gusts blow on a steep, craggy habitat for birds, bats and other wildlife, land well protected by state regulations.

In November, regulators granted Rogers a limited permit for fewer windmills, citing possible damage to the mountaintop habitat. That month, he joined the transition team of then-Gov.-elect Martin O'Malley (D), who tapped Rogers's expertise as an energy adviser to power producers and governments. Among the policies advocated by the team that Rogers led: expanded wind power and less regulation.

As the General Assembly session got underway in January, Rogers, arguing that the law was too restrictive, turned to a powerful lobbyist and a top Democratic lawmaker in Annapolis. They helped win passage of a bill eliminating environmental review for wind farms no larger than 70 megawatts. Rogers's proposal fit under the cap at 40 megawatts. He plans to reapply for a permit at the same spot.

"What they really did was an end run around the entire approval process," said Bob DeGroot, an activist fighting wind projects in Western Maryland. "Because of the potential to kill millions of birds from global warming emissions, we're going to kill millions of birds" with wind turbines.

Rogers defended the new law, approved overwhelmingly by the legislature and signed into law by O'Malley in April, as a reflection of the state's emphasis on renewable energy. It brings Maryland's policy more in line with those of neighboring states, he said.

"The entire industry looked at Maryland as a laggard," Rogers said. "To get 90 percent of the legislature to agree on anything is way beyond politics." Two wind farms have been approved in Maryland, but neither has been built. No others are in the pipeline.

Rogers's business interests effectively decided the debate among environmentalists over what takes precedence: developing wind power or protecting nature.

Rogers is an international developer of hydroelectric power plants, including in China and Guatemala. He is also a former chairman of the state Democratic Party and a prolific donor to a who's who of Democrats, including Sen. Hillary Rodham Clinton of New York and O'Malley. Rogers was finance chairman of Benjamin L. Cardin's successful 2006 run for U.S. Senate in Maryland and Maryland chairman of Sen. John F. Kerry's 2004 presidential campaign. He is also a major fundraiser for Clinton's presidential bid.

To overcome the state's regulatory hurdles, Rogers, 52, enlisted Gerard E. Evans, one of Annapolis's top lobbyists. One of Evans's closest allies in the Maryland State House is the powerful Senate president, Thomas V. Mike Miller Jr. (D-Calvert). Evans began his career as an aide in Miller's office, and Miller is godfather to Evans's twin daughters.

Rogers and Miller share long ties through Democratic politics, and two of Rogers's businesses contributed a combined $8,000 to Miller's campaign committee in 2004, records show. In January, Miller submitted the wind energy bill that Rogers sought.

"What we heard was that wind power was taking a back seat to protecting bats, rats and owls," Miller said.

When the Public Service Commission issued Rogers's Synergies Wind Energy LLC its limited permit, it concluded that the project "would result in significant adverse impacts to threatened and endangered species," citing concerns raised by the state Department of Natural Resources.

C. Ronald Franks, who was then the department secretary, said he advised the agency's scientists to be judicious.

"I said I do not want them stopped for some minor, trivial situation," Franks recalled. "But by the same token, I did not want to give them carte blanche to ruin an endangered habitat."

A frustrated Rogers called opponents of the project "a small band of anti-wind extremists" at a meeting of wind developers, policy experts and state officials in December. He concluded that his wind farm would not be economically feasible with fewer than 19 turbines.

The governor's 21-page transition report on Maryland's energy future echoed those sentiments, lamenting that "not a single utility-scale wind power facility" has been completed in Maryland, "despite years of effort by a number of companies."

Rogers testified in favor of the bill at a hearing, citing many of the policy goals listed in the transition report he helped develop.

The Department of Natural Resources, which had conducted the lengthy environmental review of the Synergies project and opposed the bill, did not provide testimony before the committee. When two of the agency's top wildlife scientists showed up, they were told by DNR's legislative staff member that they could not testify, according to several people who are familiar with the case and spoke on condition of anonymity because of the political nature of the bill. The department's name was crossed off the witness list of opponents, records show.

DNR spokeswoman Olivia Campbell referred questions to the governor's office. Spokesman Rick Abbruzzese said officials submitted written remarks on the bill that were sufficient.

Overall, he said, the governor has made it a priority to find alternatives to coal and nuclear energy. "There's a balancing act that needs to be established between finding those sources of energy and preserving our environment," he said.

The General Assembly approved the measure with little debate. One of the few lawmakers to vote against it was Sen. George C. Edwards, a Garrett County Republican whose district includes Backbone Mountain. Edwards said he supports wind power to help lessen the country's reliance on imported oil. "But I didn't like the way [the bill] came in," he said, alluding to the political clout of Synergies in Annapolis.

With the new law, approval of Rogers's full project appears virtually certain, Jim Boone, the commission's staff counsel, said in an interview. "It seems pretty clear that the law provides an option for a streamlined approval for wind projects that was not available to the company before."

Regulators still are required to consider a proposed wind farm's safety and reliability. But they can no longer deny turbines on the grounds that they damage the environment. And opponents no longer can appeal the granting of a permit, as happened to Clipper Windpower Inc., whose project was tied up in court from 2003 until the challenge was rejected last month. The state has approved a third wind farm in Western Maryland that has not yet been built.

Rogers said the wind power law will benefit future developers and help "rein in an energy crisis" in Maryland. "Everyone benefited from the legislation," he said.

Staff researcher Meg Smith contributed to this report.

The Arts

An Eye For Art

by Angela M. Sincell

The Need For Art, Part 1

I've been absent from the art scene for a good two months now. It's my own doing. I neglected to cover Kate Keely's paintings, which is shameful because her pieces were magnificent. I didn't go over to see the monotypes of Judy McCaughey, an artist I've adored since first seeing other works of hers a couple months ago at the Gallery Shop in Oakland. And I should have; more over, I needed to and I didn't.

The lack of art really puts a damper on my outlook; and in an odd way, I don't value the natural and raw scenes in every day life as much as I do after I've spent some time in front of pieces. Does that make sense? Probably not. Artists have a way of explaining the world around us like no one else can, and I believe their pieces, whether expressive, emotional or detailing a flower, help me to observe and appreciate my surroundings better. And I think I need to go through periods of no art to see that I do need it in my life.

The need for art is an interesting and sometimes controversial subject matter, especially in schools, and I'd like to address that as best as I can. Many people argue that art in education is important, and others argue that it doesn't serve much purpose. But neither side can always explain why or why not.

Money gets taken away from schools, and without fail, the programs that seem to go first are art, theater, dance, and music classes. I've never understood this. How can anyone justify taking away such a crucial learning environment?

Studies have shown that there are skills taught in the art classrooms that other subjects do not necessarily teach. Such art enables a student to acquire certain abilities/techniques: adaptive learning competencies, and children are more well-rounded academically, socially, and mentally when introduced to the arts and encouraged to participate. It was also found that the arts can help a child see problems in a new way and learn to solve them differently, all from being in an art class.

My focus here isn't just on visual art. It encompasses theater, music, and dance as well. Our county does well in the art area with summer camps and workshops, although I'd love to see workshops being offered year-round as after-school extracurricular activities. Because what if a child doesn't want to do sports, but would rather draw or throw clay or take photographs after school? Shouldn't one be given a choice? And why doesn't it start with the younger generations? I believe that if a child is introduced to the arts early on, that child will grow in appreciation of it and be more willing to contribute to the arts in the future.

I know that all those years of being exposed to symphonies and orchestras, museums, ballets, and theater productions has truly helped me grow an appreciation I otherwise might not have had for the arts. I was introduced to creativity at a very young age, and I'm very grateful to my parents for doing that. Those influences helped guide my passions of today, and I honestly believe the arts can and will affect others in the same way.

So why not give it a shot? Why not indulge a child's interest when you see him or her pretending to be a famous actress or singer? How many famous artists do you think started out by drawing stick figures as a child?

Chamber Trio To Open 17th MPA Season

Music at Penn Alps will launch its 17th summer series of concerts on Saturday, June 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the Great Hall at Penn Alps, Grantsville, with a performance by chamber trio ETA-3. A new chamber music group out of New York City, ETA-3 was formed at the Juilliard School during spring of 2006. The trio comprises American flutist Emily Thomas, Japanese pianist Tomoko Nakayama, and Russian clarinetist Alexey Gorokholinsky.

The trio's name is both a combination of their first initials (Emily, Tomoko, and Alexey) and the name of a star-forming nebula in the galaxy, ETA-3. The trio made their debut in 2006 at Alice Tully Hall in New York City.

Flutist Emily Thomas holds a master's degree from the Juilliard School, and has been awarded the New Horizons Fellowship and the Academy of American Conductors' fellowship to the Aspen Music Festival. She is also the flutist for the Chamber Orchestra of New York, and has been featured twice on NPR's "From the Top."

Clarinetist Alexey Gorokholinsky has won first prizes in the Eastern Connecticut Symphony Orchestra Young Artist Competition, the Jefferson Symphony Young Artist Competition, and the Juilliard Clarinet Concerto Competition, and is currently working toward a master's degree from Juilliard. He has been heard live, as well as on radio and television, across the United States and Russia.

Pianist Tomoko Nakayama has performed in Singapore, Japan, Belgium, and the Czech Republic; she teaches at the Bronx School of Music and the Piano School of New York. She holds a bachelor's degree in harpsichord performance from Juilliard, where she is currently pursuing a master's degree in the Collaborative Piano Department.

The trio will perform the following program: "Prelude to Afternoon of a Faun," by Claude Debussy; Romanian Folk Dances, composed by Bela Bartok; Tchaikovsky's "Russian Dance"; Trio in Three Movements by Aram Khachaturian; "Zoom Tube," written by contemporary composer Ian Clarke (b. 1946); and their own arrangements based on Bizet's Carmen.

Tickets are $12 for adults, and youth 18 and under are admitted free of charge. For program and ticket information, persons may call 443-257-9177 or visit www.musicatpennalps.org or the trio's web site at www.eta3.org.

The concert is sponsored by Allegany College of Maryland. After the performance, audience members will be invited to meet the artists at an informal reception. Music at Penn Alps is a non-profit organization dedicated to presenting classical music.

"Knit In Public Day" To Be Observed Locally

World Wide Knit in Public Day will be observed on June 13, and local knitters will be taking part in the event. Let's Pretend Yarn Shop will sponsor Knit in Public Day for the second year at the Gazebo on the corner of Second and Liberty streets in Oakland. Knitters are invited to attend from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Persons should bring their own chairs, as well as their knitting or crocheting projects, and join other Garrett County knitters. "Knitting is often about giving, since many knitted items are gifts and other items are knitted for various charities, but finding the time to share the enthusiasm of knitting is difficult," said Marilyn McCain of Let's Pretend.

Garrett County knitters also meet Thursday mornings at Trader's Coffee House at Deep Creek Lake from 8 to 10 a.m., and on Thursday evenings from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. at Let's Pretend Yarn Shop, located at 315 South Second Street in Oakland. Persons may contact McCain for more information at 301-616-5117.

GINA POWELL CUTS CD—Singer-songwriter Gina Powell, a former resident of Garrett County and graduate of Southern High School and Frostburg State University, has recorded her debut album. It is titled Sincerely, and is being produced by a local label, Pro-Gravity Records, under the direction of Derek Shank. While the topics vary, much of the album's 33 minutes focus on relationships, according to a Pro-Gravity spokesperson. "I'm just so thrilled that it's finally out there for people to hear. It's like a huge weight is off my shoulders," Powell said. An artist and photographer, Powell earned a theater degree from FSU. She was one of the performers on Frostburg State University's Mind Culture CD. This summer, Powell will promote Sincerely through live performances and Internet sales. Information about the CD can be obtained at <http://cdbaby.com/cd/ginapowell>. Powell is the daughter of Linda Goodrich of Mtn. Lake Park. Photo by Karlo Gesner.

An Eye For Art

by Angela M. Sincell

I'd like to end this week's column with a quote from Jerry M. Landay, a writer who has taken up photography, and belongs to art and photography guilds. He is a former CBS News Washington and foreign correspondent. What he says of art:

"Whatever happened to the joy of caring, creative work, which is what art teaches? Humans are imbued by nature with the appetite for sensual beauty. Whether one winds up being okay with art is largely a matter of nurture. Music in the home. Lovely pictures on the wall. Lots of books. Visits to the museum, concert hall, or theater.

When that child grows up to be a school board member, he'll fight for the right of all children in the community to have their eyes, ears, and soul opened to the arts. Fine art ... has a story to tell. It speaks to the soul about our ideals and values. The artist makes meaning about life and times. He/she tells us who we are, why we love and suffer, what our civilization stands for or against, what is important and what is not. Art is something that graces a tedious life with joy, beauty, taste and, yes, a critical eye. It speaks to the past and the future of who we were and are, and who we ought to be. It elevates us to personhood. Art finds splendor in an uglified world."

I couldn't agree more.

Next week: "The Need For Art, Part 2." A look at studies that focus on the real benefits of art in education.

Sincell is a 2000 graduate from Southern High School and a 2005 graduate from Towson University. She holds a bachelor of science degree with a double major in art and mass communications. Questions, comments, and suggestions may be e-mailed to asincell@therepublicannews.com.

Wisp Undeclared; Hands East Hardy First Season Loss

The Wisp Hot Stove baseball team upped its record to 7-0 as the team defeated previously unbeaten East Hardy, 9-5, last Thursday at Potomac Park, and dominated Culver Design, 13-2, on Monday at Hampshire.

Against East Hardy on Thursday, Wisp starter Cody Humberston finished with two singles to go along with his five strikeouts. He allowed just two walks and nine hits. Teammate Pat Sines recorded two runs with a single, and Josh Bittinger had two singles. Jeremy Bender finish with an RBI single, and Kyle Rosenberg knocked in two with a fly ball.

The Wisp led 3-1 after the first inning, and then 4-3 by the end of the third. The fourth inning went scoreless until Wisp tacked on three runs at the bottom of the fifth and two in the sixth for the win. East Hardy managed to get two runs in the

SIGNS WITH SHIPPENSBURG — Kerry Conroy, who will graduate from Northern High School this Sunday, has signed a national letter of intent to attend and continue her academic and athletic career at Shippensburg University in Pennsylvania. A standout in girls' basketball for Southern High School for three years, Conroy concluded her high school career with the Huskies of Northern, where she was named the 2008-09 MVP of the 20-4 and second-ranked All-Area team. She also played on several sanctioned AAU basketball teams in central Maryland and Northern Virginia, competing in AAU tournaments from Pennsylvania to Florida. Conroy was heavily scouted over the past year by numerous colleges in nine states from Massachusetts to North Carolina. Recognized by her coaches as "a complete and unselfish player," Conroy credits many of her past coaches for her success in the game and now looks forward to the challenges of D2 Women's Basketball. Pictured with her above are school principal Gary Relchenbecher, left, and Northern girls' head coach Dave Yoder. Spring Season Turkey Harvest Increase Noted Maryland hunters reported taking 2,910 wild turkeys during the 2009 spring turkey season, registering a 3 percent increase from the 2008 harvest of 2,833 turkeys.

"More than 2,900 birds taken this spring indicate that the statewide population is generally stable and wild turkeys continue to do well in most regions of Maryland," stated Department of Natural Resources' upland game bird biologist Bob Long. "The statewide spring turkey harvest has averaged 2,913 birds over the last 10 years."

The harvest data are consistent with DNR survey results which documented that young gobblers, called jakes, were less abundant in most regions this year.

"The number of jakes reported was below average, comprising only 19 percent of the harvest," added Long.

Sailboat Racing On Deep Creek Lake

OLD SAILORS NEVER DIE
by Dan Muss

They just get a little dinghy! (Groan) Talking about old sailors, last week my column was getting a bit long, so I didn't get around to pointing out the achievement of Barbara and Don Griffin. Last season they were not able to race (or bike or do any of the other things they do) because they were both dealing with health problems. So this year, before last weekend's opening regatta, they took their Flying Scot out for a shake-down sail, and to quote them: They "did everything wrong." But, in the Becker Cup Regatta, they beat the best we have, including national champions Joni Palmer, Harry Carpenter, and Ray Gauthier. Remember that, while Barbara's age is a well-kept secret, Don will be 80 next month. That's something for an octogenarian!

This past weekend we had no lack of wind. On Saturday, we not only had NW winds of 10-15, gusting to over 20 knots, but it was cold. My crew, Fearless Marilyn Filemyr, and I decided not to go out... and the rest of the Masters Fleet decided likewise. Since we weren't sailing, we did the next best thing; we went out on our pontoon boat to beef up the patrol since we thought that they might need us in that heavy air... and they did.

Now the Laser is a very tippy sailboat, and these hardy Laser sailors expect to get wet in this kind of air, and they did. They are very good about righting their boat after it has flipped, but after many flips they can get tired and get into trouble in this still pretty cold water of Deep Creek Lake. So we shepherded the Lasers and stood by to make sure they were okay after a capsize. It was a great day for Tom Johnson, who beat our local Laser champion, Darrell Van Hutten, in both of the first two Laser races.

After lunch we went out again, and again we were following the Lasers when we saw a 'Scot go over. We were there in 60 seconds while David Bertsch and his crew, Debbie McCombs, got the boat righted, but the mainsheet was still cleated and the wind blew them onto the Thousand Acre shore before they could get back into the boat to get it under control. Ted Russell and I quickly landed our boat on a nearby dock and passed a line to David, who was now standing in shallow water. With David in the 'Scot and Debbie safe in our boat we then towed them back to the Turkey Neck Club.

Sunday the prediction was for even higher wind, but it was for later in the day, so we bundled up and went out. The PRO, Bruce Spinnenweber, set a really neat course, and we were in third place as we rounded the first leeward mark on starboard tack. We were taking really bad air from both Peters and Mahan in front of us, so I decided to tack onto port. I failed to see Russell coming up on starboard and he had to alter course to avoid hitting us, so we did our two penalty turns. We were never back in the race, but managed to finish just behind Russell... dead last.

I have to conclude with a tribute to the Flying Scot. There is no other comparable one-design racing sailboat that would allow octogenarians like us to compete in heavy air. This past Sunday I was able to keep the boat level in the puffs just by working the mainsail; my crew never needed to ease the jib. It's really a great boat!

Turkey Harvest

Despite inclement weather, junior hunters took 126 gobblers during the one-day youth hunt on April 11, similar to last year's youth day harvest of 134 turkeys.

As in the past, the western mountain counties lead the state in harvest. Garrett County reported 364 turkeys, followed by Allegany (342) and Washington (308).

Garrett County's spring harvest last year was 327 birds, and for 2007 it was 303.

Dorchester (236), Worcester (202), and Charles (186) counties also reported good harvest numbers.

Approximately 10,000 hunters pursue turkeys annually in the spring season, and about 25% are successful in taking at least one turkey.

then sentenced Wilt to three months in the Garrett County Jail, all of which was suspended. He was placed on probation and fined $200.

Wilt was charged by Maryland State Police in October 2008 after his vehicle was observed traveling on Rt. 495 well below the posted speed limit, weaving on the roadway, traveling onto the shoulder, and crossing the center line. After a trooper noted Wilt's

STUDENTS TREATED TO PITTSBURGH PIRATES GAME—The Garrett County Association of Student Councils, along with advisor Lowell Litzel from Southern High School, recently took their annual trip to a Pittsburgh Pirates game, where the Pirates won against the Houston Astros. In an unrelated case, Justin Russell Rinker, 28, Mtn. Lake Park, pleaded guilty to driving on a suspended license. Rinker was then sentenced to three months in the Garrett County Jail. All of the sentence was suspended, and Rinker was placed on probation and fined $200.

Rinker was seen last October by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy driving a vehicle on Oakland Avenue in Mtn. Lake Park and spinning the wheels of that vehicle. A check of Rinker's license status showed his privilege to drive was suspended at that time and he was arrested.

In other recent court proceedings, William Ray Woodward, 20, Mtn. Lake Park, admitted that he violated his probation by being found in possession of heroin in February. The judge then reimposed Woodward's previously suspended sentence of five months, 25 days in the Garrett County Jail.

Woodward had been placed on probation after pleading guilty to possession of marijuana and served five days in jail in early February. Approximately two weeks later, Woodward was arrested and charged with possession of heroin. He is also serving three months for that charge.

Pleads Guilty To Felony Theft In Circuit Court

Kelly Renee Corby, 32, Cumberland, pleaded guilty in the Circuit Court today to conspiracy to commit felony theft. After accepting her plea, Judge Jim Sherbin ordered a pre-sentence investigation be done prior to sentencing, which is scheduled in August. He revoked Corby's bond and remanded her to the jail.

Corby was arrested and charged by Garrett County Sheriff's deputies in August. She had driven Todd William Riley to the Oakland Wal-Mart, where he stole two televisions. As he was leaving the store, an employee attempted to contact him, and Corby interfered with those efforts and drove Riley from the store.

Deputies responded to Wal-Mart, obtained evidence identifying Corby and Riley, and broadcast a look-out for Corby's car. Maryland State Police stopped the vehicle in northern Garrett County a short while later. The televisions were recovered and the pair arrested.

Riley had earlier pled to the theft charge in Garrett County District Court and is serving a sentence of three years in the Division of Corrections.

believed the theft probably occurred between the hours of midnight and 3:30 a.m.

cept a boat." This event will be for teams of from two to five persons, and will begin at 11 a.m. The crafts may not be boats, kayaks, or inflatable rafts, and must be homemade. The craft must float with at least one person on it or in it. Prizes will be awarded for the most redneck raft, best use of duct tape, best use of beverage containers, and most unlikely to float. The entry fee is $10.

Individual games will be a Rock/Paper/Scissors contest and the mud pit belly flop.

Musical entertainment will be provided throughout the day by bands Rough Creek Session and National Road.

The yard sale will begin at 7 a.m. and continue until the items are gone. Persons are invited to donate items to the sale by dropping them off that day.

The Lions Club will be serving its signature barbecue chicken dinners, the Oakland Rotary will be present with its French fry booth, the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department will be selling beer, and the Kitmillers Lions Club will be there selling hotdogs and hamburgers.

"We really hope to make this first Redneck Dayz a major success so that it can become an annual event and continue to grow each year," Marucci said. "It should be lots of fun, and at the same time raise needed money for a lot of worthy local organizations and charities."

Marucci said that the boat ramp will be closed for fishing that day, and it is requested that persons park in the large parking lot at the beach and then walk down the lakeside trail to get to the various events.

Letters

Certain sentences in the article deserve to be memorized by one and all:

"Do their homework to ensure that the charities they choose to support are legitimate."

"Find out what percentage of your donation actually goes to the charity's mission."

"Unscrupulous callers want to get money fast ... before you can change your mind."

"When solicited by phone, always ask the caller to send you written material about the charity.... The need will still exist after you read what they've sent."

"Bogus charities frequently use names that resemble those of well-known ... organizations."

The article ends by providing 800#s for the Maryland Consumer Protection Division (1-888-743-0023) and the Charitable Organizations Division (1-800-825-4510). Those numbers should be kept posted right near your phone.

The real "bottom line" of the entire story is this: Never, never give money over the phone!

Here is my recommendation: There are eight magic words that should be your entire response to any telephone fundraising request: "Put me on your 'Do Not Call' list." By law, callers are prohibited from doing anything else but that when they hear those words.

To the Editor:
As "Cash for Clunkers" legislation moves closer to becoming law, the unintended negative consequences of this radical bill should be of concern to all Americans. The legislation, which in theory is supposed to be environmentally friendly, would actually increase the amount of pollution generated for years to come.

Cash for Clunkers is touted as protecting the environment by taking older vehicles off the road and replacing them with new, more fuel efficient vehicles. The reality is that the trade-in vehicles will be scrapped, regardless of the amount of useful life they have left. It's ironic that a proposal designed to reduce pollution will actually further damage the environment. While the true intention of this legislation is not to protect the environment but to financially stimulate the automobile industry in the short term, the hidden costs of this bill could cause environmental havoc indefinitely.

The Cash for Clunkers amendment, included as part of the American Clean Energy and Security Act of 2009 (HR 2454), states, "For each eligible trade-in vehicle ... the vehicle, including the engine and drive train, will be crushed or shredded within such period and in such manner as the secretary prescribes."

Cash for Clunkers is loaded with so many pot-holes that the American people will be paying a steep bill both economically and environmentally for a long time. In addition to the wasteful nature of destroying perfectly good vehicles, a tremendous amount of energy and resources will be exhausted to build new vehicles to replace the scrapped ones. Providing tax incentives to purchase new vehicles or maintain current vehicles maintained for fuel efficiency would be a much better use of federal money that would truly benefit the environment.

Interested parties can send an e-mail in opposition to the Cash for Clunkers program to the speaker of the house, the senate majority leader, and their congressional representatives by visiting www.fightcashforclunkers.org and clicking on "Take Action."

Johnsons' Crook Crest Property On MLGC's '09 Country Gardens Tour

Located on a hill overlooking Oakland, the gardens of Kathy and Tom Johnson will be primed for visitors to view during the 9th annual Secret Country Gardens Tour, sponsored by the Mountain Laurel Garden Club on June 27, 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. This year's tour has a local history theme, organizers said.

Dating back to the Civil War, Crook Crest's history began with General George Crook and his interest in the Oakland area at the conclusion of the Civil War. General Crook, having been in the western parts of Maryland during the war, met and married Mary Dailey, daughter of John Dailey, proprietor of the Glades Hotel. Mrs. Crook inherited the land known as Crook Crest from her father.

General and Mrs. Crook made plans to build a house on the hill overlooking Oakland and the countryside visible at that time. Just as the plans were being finalized in 1890, General Crook became ill and died. But his wife Mary carried out their building plans and gave the home its name: "Crook Crest."

Presently owned by Kathy and Tom Johnson, the house is surrounded by gardens that have been developing over the past 25 years. Both being busy people, the Johnsons' main challenge has been finding the time to spend in the garden areas. There are variegated hostas throughout the property. The "hardscape" is evident in the use of low rock walls that tie the individual areas together.

Members of the Garrett County Historical Society will be present at the site to answer any questions regarding the history of the property. Tickets for raffle prizes will be available on the day of the tour at this site.

Tickets for the tour, which include a short description of each garden, a map, and written directions, may be purchased in advance at the following locations: Gregg's Pharmacy, Jan Florist, and Green Acres Garden Center, all of Oakland; Nature's Own, McHenry; Annie's Kitchen, Accident; and Beachy's Pharmacy, Grantsville.

On the day of the tour, members of the Garrett County Historical Society will sell tickets at the Gazebo in Oakland. The ticket price is $7. A perennial sale will be held at the Gazebo as well. Tickets for raffle prizes, as well as refreshments, will be available on the day of the tour.

Proceeds from the tour will be used by the Mountain Laurel Garden Club for the continued beautification of local communities and the encouragement of gardening and sound conservation practices through club activities and programs. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Garrett County Historical Society and to the Drane House Preservation Fund.

The Mountain Laurel Garden Club is a member of the National Garden Clubs Inc., the Central Atlantic Region, and the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland Inc. For more information about the tour, persons may contact Kathie Smith at 301-334-3249 or log on to www.mountainlaurelgardenclub.com.

Farmers' Market Coupons Available To Senior Citizens

The Area Agency on Aging is working with the USDA Senior Farmers' Market Nutrition Program to provide coupons to eligible older residents with limited incomes.

Coupons were handed out this week at the Swanton and Friendsville community centers and the Grantsville Senior Center. The coupons will be distributed at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Monday, June 8, from 1:30 to 3 p.m.

The Farmers' Market Nutrition Program benefits older citizens by supplementing their diets with additional locally grown fresh fruits and vegetables during the summer growing season. Each qualified participant can receive $30 worth of coupons which can be redeemed at designated farmers' markets in Maryland.

To qualify for the program, a person must be at least 60 years old, a resident of Garrett County, and participate in at least one of the following qualifying programs: Qualified Medicare Beneficiary, Special Low-Income Medicare Beneficiary, Primary Adult Care, Supplemental Security Income, Extra Help with Medicare D Prescription Drug, Medicaid, Senior Employment, Food Supplement or Supplemental Nutrition Assistance (formerly the Food Stamp Program), Maryland Energy Assistance, and Electrical Universal Service.

A limited amount of the coupons are available. So, coupons are distributed on a first-come, first-served basis. Proof of age, residency, and program participation must be provided at the time of coupon distribution.

If an eligible older person is unable to attend the distribution, he or she can designate a proxy to do this for him or her. But the forms must be obtained and completed in advance of the distribution date. For questions, persons may call 301-334-9431, ext. 137.

INSTALLING 50 BEAR-PROOF ENCLOSURES at various campgrounds near Deep Creek Lake was the work crew of the Western Correctional Institution. The enclosures, designed to protect campers' food and belongings, were put in place in time for the traditional start of summer, the Memorial Day weekend. Pictured above are two-of-six inmates fastening the cage-like enclosure to the ground, driving a seven-foot steel pole in first to facilitate the installation. See story for more details of the project.

WCI Inmates Install Bear-Proof Enclosures At DCL

The work crew of Western Correctional Institution, already locally heralded for trail maintenance, tree and flower growing, and a wide variety of community improvement projects in Allegany and Garrett counties, added another to the list this week after installing 50 bear

-proof enclosures at campsites near Deep Creek Lake. The enclosures, designed to protect campers' food and belongings, were put in place in time for the traditional start of summer, last weekend's Memorial Day holiday.

Six minimum-security inmates and two WCI maintenance officers were on-site Tuesday and Wednesday at the campground, located off Glendale Road and U.S. 219. They fastened the 50 cage-like enclosures to the ground, driving seven-foot steel poles first to facilitate the installation.

According to a spokesperson, inmates are accomplishing more community-enhancing projects in more places than ever before, all the while protecting the environment and the state's most fragile natural resources.

The project is a partnership between the Maryland Department of Public Safety and Correctional Services (DPCS) and the Department of Natural Resources. In the past few weeks alone, inmates have planted 158,000 trees for DNR.

It's also an extension of DPCS Secretary Gary Maynard's acclaimed "Public Safety Works" campaign, which has already led to inmates building oyster spat cages for the Bay (Eastern Shore); locking access gates for the C&O Canal National Park (Hagerstown); growing and replanting Chesapeake Bay grasses (Hagerstown and Eastern Shore); and a wide variety of community improvement projects from Baltimore to southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore to Garrett County.

Charged With DUI And DUI Per Se Following Stop

A traffic stop initiated by a Garrett County sheriff's deputy ended in the arrest of an Oakland woman for allegedly driving under the influence of alcohol.

Serena Futch, 40, was stopped in a 2004 Dodge truck traveling west on Maryland Highway in the area of Patriot Motors. Once contact was made with Futch, it was determined by the deputy that she was under the influence.

She was charged with DUI, DUI per se, and driving while impaired by alcohol. She was later released until her court date.

Military Family Support Group Meeting Slated

The Military Family Support Group will meet next Wednesday, June 10, 6:30 p.m. at the Southern Garrett Rescue Squad building in Mtn. Lake Park. The group is a voluntary organization that helps families meet the challenges of military life.

Persons who have family members or friends who are serving in any branch of the military are particularly invited to attend. The entire family, as well as other interested people in the community, come together through the group and share many types of practical and emotional support.

The Dennett Road Nursing Home made a donation to the organization to help cover the postage to ship "care packages" to local service men and women serving overseas. The staff at the home collected $180 during National Nurses Week.

A spokesperson for the group asks local residents to take note and plan to attend the Flag Day ceremony at the Wisp titled "Flag on Mountain Maryland." It will include music, a parade of flags, and special tribute to Vietnam veterans. Those who would like to participate in the "Living American Flag" are asked to contact the group as soon as possible.

The support group will have a display booth at the Flag Day event to collect non-perishable items to send to local troops serving overseas. All monetary donations are tax deductible.

For more information about the support group and its activities, persons may telephone Mel or Cathy Menker at 301-334-5906, or Sheila Shaffer at 301-616-6109, or visit the group's web site at www.support-localmilitary.com.

AA Meetings To Resume

The resumption of Alcoholics Anonymous meetings at the Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center has been announced by an AA spokesperson. The meetings will be conducted by the Back to Basics group in the conference room every Thursday at 6 p.m.

All persons concerned with addictive problems are welcome to attend this 12-step program. The rehab center is on South 7th St., just off Alder St. in Oakland.

For more information, persons may contact Pat Bobo at 301-533-2168.

Lyme Disease: Prevention & Treatment
Lyme disease is an infection that is transmitted by some ticks that carry a certain bacteria. Ticks commonly live in forests and in overgrown grassy and brushy areas. This infection commonly occurs in late spring and summer months. The majority of individuals with Lyme disease develop a red "bull's eye" rash within a few days to weeks after the tick bite. Common signs and symptoms include headache, fever, fatigue, muscle aches, and joint pain. Without treatment, joint pain can become more severe, and further complications of the heart or nervous system may occur.
The chance of being bitten by a tick can be reduced by wearing protective clothing when in areas where ticks are likely to live. An insect repellent containing DEET should be applied to clothes and skin. It is also important to check the skin for ticks each day, because it is less likely that Lyme disease will develop if the tick is removed within 24 to 36 hours after it attaches to the skin. Oral antibiotics are often prescribed for 10 to 21 days. Antibiotics commonly prescribed for Lyme disease include doxycycline, amoxicillin, and cefuroxime axetil. For more serious cases of the condition intravenous administration of an antibiotic, such as ceftriaxone, may be necessary.

Notes From Bittering

by Joan Glatfelter Sussman

It's hard to imagine more perfect weather on this Monday. The sun is shining in a soft cobalt blue sky, and the temperature is just about perfect. It's warm, but not sticky hot like a couple of weeks ago. Of everywhere I visited during my traveling, no place is as perfect as a day on my family farm in June. I am even seeing a few last apple blossoms on my old tree.

Last June, I was stuck in the Oakland Rehabilitation Nursing Center recovering from my ankle surgery. Since my aneurism, I hate any kind of place even slightly like a hospital. And I like my privacy. I met some lovely staff members, especially the two therapists, but I was totally miserable. I hated all those days without my girls during the summer vacation. Thank goodness they visited me almost every day. But I just hated to miss June in Bittering.

I did find a channel on my television that carried Pittsburgh Pirates games. Now when I see that channel it reminds me of that unhappy time. At last, I got home, and what a happy day that was. My brother and sister wanted me to stay in until I was 100% independent. I'm not sure that I am that even now. I get along pretty well alone. Sometimes I come upon something I can't do on my own, but I rarely call my family to help me. Luckily, I have a few friends and neighbors to lend a hand.

June is a time for weddings and graduations. I didn't hear about any local weddings this June, but Northern High's graduation this Sunday, June 7, will include quite a few of Bittering's young people. Included are my Meredith and her cousin Emma Bass, Clair Vallano, and Lacy and Aaron Warnick.

The Bittering Volunteer Fire Department will hold a chicken barbecue on Saturday, June 13, beginning at 3:30. People should plan to get there early, because they have been selling out very quickly.

It's hard to believe that 18 years has gone by since Meredith was born on Jan. 19, 1991. What a contrast the weather was that day compared to today's. But one thing is the same: America is at war with Iraq. When Meredith came we were involved in the first Iraq war - Desert Storm.

I can't remember why President Bush decided to bomb it back into the Stone

ADMITTED TO WEST VIRGINIA BAR - Brandon James Hoover, Grantsville, was recently admitted to the West Virginia Bar following an admission ceremony at the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals in Charleston, W.Va. Hoover sat for and successfully completed the Feb. 2009 West Virginia bar examination. He is a 2008 graduate of Ohio Northern University's Claude W. Pettit College of Law. He is currently employed by the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals as a law clerk for the Honorable Phil Jordan, chief judge of the 21st Judicial Circuit of West Virginia. Hoover is also licensed to practice law in the State of Maryland. He is the oldest son of Oliver Hoover and Maria Reams, both of Grantsville. Pictured above with Hoover (left) is the Honorable Brent D. Benjamin, chief justice of the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

Age. It's possible that war was the main reason for the terrorists and Sept. 11. But it turned out to be much harder to get us out than it was to get in.

Maybe we will be out by the time Meredith graduates from college. Although our combat mission is basically over, our ultimate goal is to leave a stable nation with functioning security forces. I assume that this is the reason for the suicide bombings that continue to try to drive us out... exactly the opposite of their desired effect.

Sue Ellen Graham died last Thursday at her home in St. Albans, W.Va. She was the daughter of Ed and Bess Buckel and the sister of the late Fern Beachy, Bob Buckel, and Max Buckel. Max's widow Bea came to Sue Ellen's Bittering funeral. Prior to the early evening funeral there was a viewing at the church.

I was told that Ed and my grandfather Charlie spelled their last name differently - Ed Buckel and Charlie Buckle. But all the Buckles/Buckles around Bittering descended from the same ancestors. One was a full-blooded Indian, William Buckle.

There are many blond, blue-eyed members of the family, but anyone can tell that Bob Brennenman, son of Ed and Charlie's sister Mary, must have some Native American blood. Plus he loves to hunt with a bow and arrow.

One sure thing is that any move the president makes results in a loud chorus of criticism. The latest and the silliest was when he made good on a promise made to Michelle to go to Manhattan and go out to dinner and take in a Broadway show, even if it was pretty expensive, when you consider the transportation for security personnel and media. But I doubt we ever had a president who did so many important things so fast, confronting the enormous problems America is facing. That and the endless criticism from the conservatives. No wonder he could use a break.

Our "First Couple" got a very warm reception from people on the street in New York. I am sure that felt very good after a little more than 100 days working like crazy trying to manage the multitude of challenges.

One was trying to turn General Motors into a viable structure so it is not a dead company, so it can re-emerge as a viable enterprise and save thousands of jobs and many Midwest communities that are dependent on the automobile. I wish the best to that icon American company, GM.

Then he had to turn 180 degrees to find a candidate for the Supreme Court. Of course, he did not wait until the last minute to find some good candidates for the high court. Many were women, because like many people, he believes in a diverse court. But there are lots of landmines in front of his choice.

No one can deny that the Latino woman has many wonderful experiences as a member of many high courts. And she has a very compelling personal story. She was born to an immigrant couple from Puerto Rico and raised in a public housing project in the Bronx by her single mother after her father died. She graduated at the top of her class from the best school in New York City. Everyone who ever worked with her agrees that she has a brilliant legal mind. But she made a small slip of the tongue when she said, "I believe that a Latino woman with my rich and various experiences perhaps could deliver a better decision than a white man."

And she mentioned the dreaded word "empathy." To the right wing, this means that she would favor people similar to herself.

But the true meaning of empathy is the ability to see the viewpoint of someone even very different from yourself. Many people who worked with her cite her belief in the rule of the law, and heavy dependence on precedent.

There are lots of things for the red side of the aisle in the Senate to combat their looking for any sign that she is an "activist judge," meaning that she makes laws through the justice process or any sign that she is too liberal. But most people familiar with her work are confident she will be uniform.

My mother Ruth DiPaolo is hanging on, but everything is not great. Instead of her chemotherapy last Friday, she had to get two pints of blood. But she felt well enough Saturday to accompany Rodney and the twins, Darryl and Elliot Glatfelter, to a graduation party for Elliot's girlpal, Rachel Margroff, in Accident. She only stayed a couple of hours.

But as annoying as the unofficial spokesperson for the Right Wing are, they aren't as scary as some of the rank-and-file members who believe that the way to win an argument is to shoot, then debate later, if at all.

I refer to the mad young man in Pittsburgh who chose to ambush and shoot dead three policemen to argue the Second Amendment.

And then there's the pro-life guy who shot a doctor in his church, a doctor who performed late-term abortions, something only resorted to for a major health risk for the mother. It certainly is not something any woman would do as a substitute for birth control.

To hear about the big plane gone missing in the wide Atlantic Ocean made my blood run cold. Imagine if it were a plane from Asia headed to America, and perhaps my Caitlin were on board. I couldn't bear it. I was very happy to get a postcard from her. On it is a picture of a temple with a beautiful flowering tree in the foreground. She said, "Vietnam is amazing! I am so happy here. All the people are so beautiful!"

I think Caitlin will be back in about two weeks. I can't wait.

SCHOLARSHIP WINNER NAMED - Ashleigh Friend, a senior at Northern High School, was recently selected as the winner of a $500 scholarship from the Greater Grantsville Business Association (GGBA). Criteria for the scholarship selections include success in the classroom and a well-thought-out plan to bring a business back to Garrett County. Ashleigh's long-term business plans include becoming a certified Horseman of America riding instructor and creating a non-profit organization on a small farm to educate the equine community on horse care. She intends to create a riding program available to children in the county at no cost to their families. Ashleigh is the daughter of James and LaTisha Friend of Grantsville. Pictured above with Friend are Gary Harriger, president of GGBA, and Vickie Swink of the state Department of Economic Development, who was the May speaker at the GGBA meeting. GGBA meets on the last Wednesday of each month at the Casseiman Inn Restaurant at 8 a.m.

Garrett County's Sixth Graders Given Opportunity For A NorthBay Adventure

For the second year in a row, Garrett County sixth graders were afforded the opportunity to attend a unique camp in April. The NorthBay Environmental Education Center in Cecil County was the destination, and the children spent a week at the facility, located on the Chesapeake Bay shore, learning about conservation.

The state of the art environmental educational center hosted nearly 150 students from both Northern and Southern middle schools for one week. NorthBay provides students with opportunities to learn about character, leadership, adventure, and discovery.

The mission of NorthBay is to challenge middle school students to realize that their attitudes and actions have a lasting impact on their future, the environment, and the people around them by using approved Maryland State Department of Education curriculum and the outdoors as an integrating

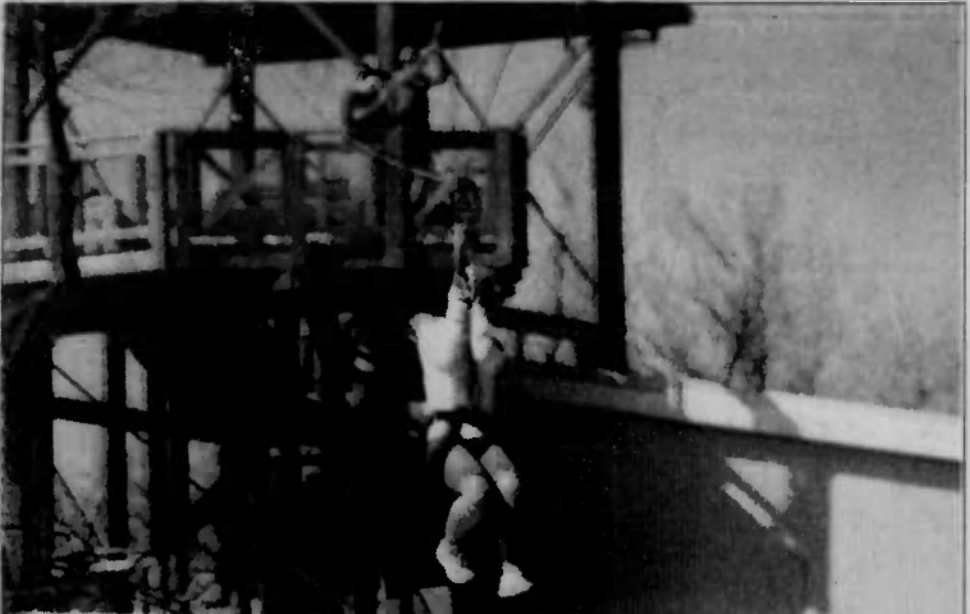

READY FOR THEIR ADVENTURE - About 150 sixth graders from Garrett County spent a week at a special camp in April, learning every day of that week how they can make a positive difference in the world by helping to preserve and conserve the environment. Last year's sixth graders attended the camp as well, with the funding provided by the state board of education. This year, that funding was cut, but the local children were still able to go, as a $10,000 grant from the Carl DelSignore Foundation Inc. was given to the school. The kids are pictured above shortly after they arrived at the camp.

context. Each day students would go to classes led by NorthBay educators to learn about the environment and their impact on it. They collected data and analyzed what they found on the land and in the surrounding waters. The data was documented by the students using graphing, mapping, counting, and other techniques.

The scientific terminology learned by the students would then change focus for evening activities, as students learned about having good character, being good role models, being active citizens in their community, and how to filter out the negative factors that might impact their lives. In between their science courses and character education lessons, students learned to take risks and challenge themselves. For example, the kids were offered the chance to be harnessed in to ride a zip line across the camp. They also faced the fear of heights by walking on a ropes course nearly two stories above the ground.

At NorthBay, all students are housed in nearly new, state-of-the-art cabins, complete with air conditioning and other amenities. They are fed three full meals a day, which the adults reported were delicious and plentiful. The boys and girls are taught in separate classes, but are brought together for other activities. Some of the sessions are held indoors, some with live animals. Other classes take place outside, including a session during which the kids waded into the Chesapeake Bay with seine nets for fishing.

NorthBay provides follow-up lessons for teachers to take into their classrooms.

Last year, Garrett sixth graders took the trip as well, spending a successful week at NorthBay, funded by the state board of education. The local school system was selected to go, along with other chosen schools in the state. This year, the funding was cut, and the trip was nearly canceled, according to Carri Guthrie, a teacher at Southern Middle and one of the organizers for the trip.

"The students almost didn't make it to NorthBay," Guthrie said. "But then Southern Middle School was able to offer the trip to all students (including NMS) who wanted to attend, thanks to a $10,000 donation from the Carl DelSignore Foundation Inc. The funds donated to Southern Middle School gave all sixth graders the opportunity to go to camp for free. For many of the students, it was a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity."

Several teachers from both schools attended the camp, as did SMS principal Jane Wildeson for the beginning of the week and vice principal Jason Shank at the end of the week.

Guthrie expressed gratitude to the many parents who also attended.

"The trip would not have

been possible without the parents who took time off work and volunteered to chaperone the trip," Guthrie said.

According to one parent, Belinda Messenger, the trip was a resounding success.

"That was a wonderful, wonderful experience for our kids. They learned so much, and had such a great time," Messenger said. "But they weren't the only ones — we parents had a blast, too."

The camp is located on approximately 97 acres of land along the Chesapeake Bay. It operates through a partnership with the Department of Natural Resources of the state of Maryland, the Erickson Foundation of Baltimore, and the efforts of individual schools. There are also private companies that have financially donated to the building, upkeep, and educational experience at the camp.

To learn more about this school program, persons may visit www.NorthBay-Adventure.com. The camp offers summer camp programs to boys and girls ages 7-16, and more information about this program can be obtained at www.NorthBaySummer.com.

Asst. Attorney General To Speak At Senior Center

Paul Ballard, assistant attorney general of Maryland, will be a guest speaker at the Mary Browning Senior Center in Oakland on Monday, June 15, at 11:15 a.m. His topic will be Making Sense of Living Wills and Other Advance Directives.

Ballard, who also serves as counsel for health decisions policy, will explain the laws regarding living wills and other advance directives.

"An advance directive speaks for you if you are unable to, and helps make sure your religious and personal beliefs regarding your health care will be respected," said a spokesperson from Ballard's office. "It is a useful legal document for an adult of any age to plan for future health care needs."

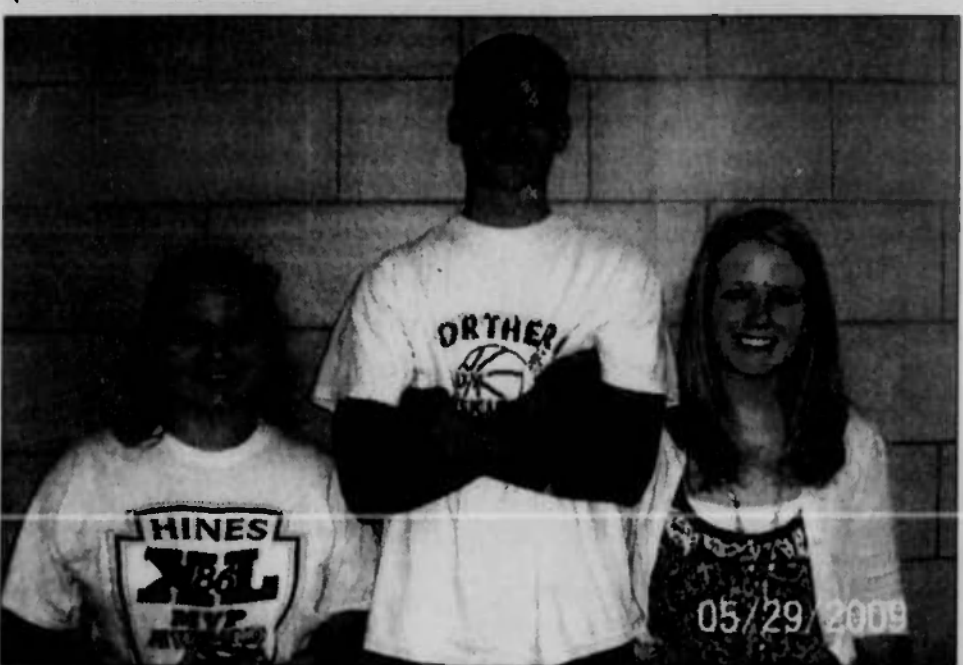

While no one is required to have an advance directive, Ballard says that it is wise to think ahead and make a plan now.

"If you don't have an advance directive, and later you can't speak for yourself, then usually your next of kin will make health care decisions for you," the spokesperson said. "But even if you want your next of kin to make decisions for you, an advance directive can make things easier for your loved ones by helping to prevent misunderstandings or arguments about your care."

Ballard has been practicing health law with the Maryland Office of the Attorney General for over 15 years. On behalf of the attorney general, he educates

by Dr. Thomas Sheahan

Q. What does shifting gears on a bicycle actually do? How does it work?

A. To understand what bicycle gears do, first it's important to remember what a chain does when it connects two sprockets. The chain ensures exactly one thing: As each tooth moves forward on one sprocket, one tooth also moves forward on the other sprocket. The mechanical advantage of a system of interconnected wheels arises from having different-size sprockets with different number of teeth.

A simple child's bicycle, without any gears to shift, may have a front sprocket with 50 teeth and a rear sprocket with 25 teeth. As the rider pedals the bicycle, one full rotation of the front sprocket is going to move 50 teeth around in a circle, and therefore the back sprocket will also move 50 teeth. But that is two full rotations of the back wheel. The gear ratio is then said to be 2 to 1, because the wheel rotates twice as fast as the pedaling motion.

On a bicycle with gears that shift, all that happens is that the chain is moved from a sprocket of one size to another. The act of shifting is to reposition the chain.

Let's look at an "18-speed bike," on which there are three front sprockets and six back sprockets, enabling 18 possible combinations of sprocket size. The sprocket to which the chain is attached is called the "active" sprocket.

The sprockets are all of different diameters, having different numbers of teeth. Suppose the three front sprockets have 32, 48, and 64 teeth in gears named low, normal and high. Meanwhile, the six back sprockets are generally smaller, having different numbers of teeth between 16 and 32. To keep it definite, say those are 32, 29, 25, 22, 19, and 16. In every case, the gear ratio is determined by the ratio of teeth in the active front sprocket to the active back sprocket.

In the lowest gear combination of all, the 32-tooth front sprocket connects to the 32-tooth rear sprocket; the gear ratio is 32/32 = 1, and one full rotation of the pedals gives one full rotation of the back wheel. That gear is called "low, one." In the highest combination, the 64-tooth front sprocket connects to the 16-tooth rear sprocket; the gear ratio is 64/16 = 4, meaning four rotations of the back wheel for one full rotation of the pedals. We call that "high, six." All the other sprocket combinations yield a gear ratio somewhere in between.

For such a bicycle, "low" gear provides a shifting range between 1 to 1 and 2 to 1. "Normal" ranges from 1.5 to 1 to 3 to 1. "High" offers combinations from 2 to 1 up to 4 to 1. The cyclist is able to shift very gradually into higher gears as pedaling speed increases.

Bicycle chains also go around two small sprockets in a device called a derailleurs, which can move inward or outward. Those "idler" sprockets don't affect the gear ratio at all. The function of the derailleurs is to take up the slack while guiding the chain from one sprocket to another, and to make the total chain length come out okay no matter what gear combination is selected.

By doing a little arithmetic, you'll notice that not all 18 combinations are actually different gear ratios. For example, "low, six" has a ratio of sprocket teeth of 32/16 = 2, and "high, one" has a ratio of 64/32 = 2. Moreover, some combinations are nearly indistinguishable: "Low, five" has the ratio 32/19 = 1.68, while "normal, two" has the ratio 48/29 = 1.66. "Normal, five" has 48/19 = 2.53, while "high, three" has 64/25 = 2.56.

The numerical reality is that a bicycle would work as well with two front sprockets ("low" and "high") and only four rear sprockets; but consumer preferences have led to the three and six custom. A bike with 24 speeds may cost more, but will only add some real capability if there is a fourth front sprocket that gives either ultra-high (more than 4 to 1) or ultra low (less than 1 to 1) gear ratios.

To serious competitive bicyclists, a wider range of gear ratios is worth extra expense. When going downhill in a race, you'd like to have a higher gear available to enable pedaling to a still higher speed. It is certainly possible to machine a sprocket of greater diameter with more teeth. But the numbers given here illustrate the general idea of how a bicycle gear shift system works.

Have You HEARD?
by M. Keith Nester, Sr., BC-HIS
HEARING LOSS MAY BE LINKED TO EYE PROBLEMS
Sensorineural (or nerve) hearing loss is caused by damage in either the inner ear region or the nerves that link the ear to the brain. This type of hearing loss not only affects up to three of every 1,000 children, but recent research indicates that about 70 percent of children with sensorineural hearing loss also have eye disorders. Of the children with sensorineural hearing loss who were studied by researchers, 21.7 percent had eye disorders, including 12.8 percent with non-refractive errors and 10.2 percent with refractive errors such as farsightedness, nearsightedness, and astigmatism. Mutations in the C12 gene play a big role in sensorineural hearing loss among Caucasian children and are now thought to extend to eye problems as well.
Infants can be tested for hearing abilities as young as a few hours old. As a primary source of information for learning, the auditory system is key for a child's healthy development. Because there are many different reasons for any hearing loss, early detection is crucial to successfully addressing the impairment. If you have questions or concerns about your child's hearing, or if you'd like to make an appointment to have your own hearing tested, please give us a call at AUDIBEL.
P.S. Half of all cases of sensorineural hearing loss in children are due to genetics.

Has the journey come to an end or has it only just begun? Every graduate will answer that question in their own way.

A diploma is the key to advancement, either through further education or the pursuit of a chosen career. That piece of parchment representing sleepless nights, perspiration, and perseverance can open endless doors...doors leading to discoveries that may help our world. What you do with it counts!

Most importantly, include God in your endeavors, for Proverbs 16:20 says, "Whoever gives heed to instruction prospers, and blessed is he who trusts in the Lord."

Love

Because God is love, love is the first fruit of the Spirit. When Jesus was asked which commandment was the greatest He answered unhesitatingly, "You shall love the Lord your God with all your heart, and with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the great and first commandment. And a second is like it, You shall love your neighbor as yourself. On these two commandments depend all the law and the prophets." (Matthew 22:37-40) The entire Old and New Testament are a love story. The love of God for His people and their frequently wavering love for God and for each other. But how often we see the God's people need to be reminded of this. And again, how often we hear the prophets reminding them, and us, that God does not want strife or sacrifice, but a loving heart. Jesus tells us repeatedly that love is about loving our enemies and turning the other cheek, and the Epistles drive home this same point again and again. Consider how much hatred and dissension there is in the modern world. Political, ethnic and religious strife, and wars around the world all show us that, contrary to the requirements of all the world's major religions that we love one another, we are constantly failing to uphold the first and foremost of God's commandments. We should not be deceived; we cannot be constantly filled with hatred, strife and neglect of our fellow man, and still be considered a child of God. So, we should banish hatred and strife from our life and show active goodwill toward our fellow man. We must ask God to give us a loving heart, and then go forth and do His good work.

Beloved, let us love one another, for love is of God, and everyone who loves is born of God and knows God.

New K.J.V. 1 John 4:7

Northern GOP Women Meet

The Northern Garrett Republican Women recently met at Hilltop Restaurant, Grantsville, for their monthly meeting. Steve Fratz, director of the Garrett County Board of Elections, was the guest speaker.

Fratz stated that voter registration in Garrett County is at an all-time high. He noted he has been working the high schools in the county to educate and register eligible students to vote.

The director also reported that for the next voting session, there will be a new voting system used so as to have a paper back-up in place.

Additionally, he explained the responsibilities of the polling judges for the precincts and reported that the board is a state organization that is county funded.

Fratz's program concluded with a question-and-answer session.

The group's business session was presided over by president Lois Rowe. She thanked Carolyn Gano and Carol Frazee for help in delivering the club's donated books to the local schools and library.

Future events were announced and discussed. There will be more details as they become available for each event.

There will be a change in the club's meeting dates. They will be the last Thursday of the month instead of the last Tuesday at Hilltop Restaurant.

Twila Mae Fike won the May meeting fruit basket, which was donated by Sandy Glotfelty, Ruth Umbel, and Ruth Beitzel.

WORKING IN ANGOLA - Former Garrett County resident Allen Lewis, a 1976 graduate of Southern High School and 1978 graduate of Garrett Community College, recently accepted a contracts manager position with Namkwang International Engineering & Construction Co. (NIEC) of Seoul, South Korea, for a project in Angola, Africa. NIEC is one of the construction consortium subcontractors on the U.S.'s $4 billion LNG (liquefied natural gas) processing facility managed by Bechtel International Inc. NIEC is responsible for building two storage tanks with a capacity of 159,000 cubic meters for liquid natural gas, a propane storage tank with an 88,000 cubic meter capacity, and a butane tank with a 59,000 cubic meter capacity. The project is located on the west coast of Africa near Soyo, Angola, at the mouth of the Congo River. Currently, off-shore platforms burn off gas accumulated during drilling and pumping of oil from Angola's vast off-shore oil reserves. Upon completion of the new LNG processing facility, the gas will be collected from the off-shore wells, piped to the LNG facility converted to liquid natural gas, propane, and butane loaded on liquid gas container ships, and transported to the United States and other countries with liquid gas offloading capabilities. The project is scheduled to complete in 2012. Lewis, who is pictured below left, is the son of Joe Lewis, formerly of Oakland and now residing in Clarksburg, W.Va., and Rosalie Halverson (Osoyoos, British Columbia. Allen's daughter Taylor is college sophomore, and son Caleb just graduated from high school. Both reside in Las Vegas.

Volunteers Providing A Ride On The Road To Recovery

by Peggy Santamaria

One can imagine. A routine visit to the doctor leads to a diagnosis of cancer. An oncologist offers hope in the form of chemotherapy or radiation treatments that could stem the advance of the disease and prolong life. The patient, however, will not be able to access these treatments. The reason? No reliable transportation.

This is a reality. Some cancer patients cannot receive the treatments they need because they do not have the resources or support to get to the treatment site. Driving a patient to such a treatment can require a commitment of many hours, particularly if the medical facility is some distance from the patient's home.

The American Cancer Society provides the Road to Recovery program to address this serious but avoidable problem.

Launched in 1983, the Road to Recovery program recruits people who are willing to use their personal vehicles to transport patients in need to treatment centers. These volunteer drivers are paired with cancer patients in their communities.

Like other caring members of the community, Bob Calvert of Accident decided not to sit idly by as someone went without lifesaving medical care. Bob stepped up to the plate to become one of the Garrett County volunteer drivers who take cancer patients to treatment facilities in Morgantown and Cumberland. That was seven years ago, and he is still transporting patients.

Bob decided to become a volunteer driver after his own experience with cancer in 2001.

"During my go 'round with cancer, many people went out of their way to give me a hand," he said. "This is something I can do to help others. The last thing a person needs to worry about when facing cancer treatments is how to get there."

To date Bob figures he has served about 20 different cancer patients – some for multiple trips and others just once. The program coordinator tries to limit driving commitments to once each month per volunteer.

"People don't take advantage of this program," he said. "I have found that they will exhaust all other possible options for transportation before asking for help."

As Garrett County residents, Bob and his wife Beth are very aware of the difficulty of getting places during inclement weather. This is especially true on some of the county's winding back roads. They both agree that the Road to Recovery program provides a much needed service.

Bob recalled a dark winter morning he had to pick up a patient at 6 a.m. traveling snow-covered roads.

"I realized that though it was a rough morning for me driving through the snow, it was nothing compared to what the patient was going through," he said.

At age 78 Robert Hicks battles colon cancer. Other chronic diseases challenge his health as well. With very limited family support near his Mountain Lake Park home, going to West Virginia University for cancer treatments could have been impossible for him.

ON THE ROAD TO RECOVERY – Bob Calvert, left, is one of Garrett County's volunteer drivers for the American Cancer Society, using his own vehicle to transport patients to Morgantown and Cumberland. Robert Hicks, wearing his Relay for Life T-shirt, prepares to climb in Bob's truck for a ride to his cancer treatment facility in Morgantown.

For three years Bob has driven Robert to medical appointments in Morgantown. "At first I had to go once a week, then once a month. Now I have a month off," Robert explained.

He and Bob reminisce about some of their driving adventures through snow, and fog, and rain. The medical appointments they attend may include blood work, or chemotherapy and a visit with the oncologist.

"There's lots of 'hurry up and wait' when we're there," Robert said.

Robert sports his purple "Relay for Life" T-shirt as he and Bob recall some of the adventures and frustrations of accessing his treatments. Since his diagnosis, when Robert is well enough, he has participated in the ACS Relay for Life. He hopes to be part of this year's relay, which is scheduled for June 12-13 at the Southern Garrett High School track. The opening ceremonies will start at 7 p.m., and the event garrett, or telephone 301-722-2145.

The Road to Recovery program is one of the many services of the American Cancer Society that is made possible by donations and the generosity of community volunteers. For information on this or other services and volunteer opportunities, persons may contact Tina Warnick of the Allegany and Garrett County office of the ACS at 1-888-227-9979 or Donna McClinton-Fost, local ACS leadership chair, at 301-746-7145.

"The Leadership Council is always looking for interested volunteers to help shape our cancer services here in Garrett County," said Fost. "Our next meeting will be held August 18 at the Garrett Health Department. Anyone interested in attending may contact me for more information."

Faith Evangelical Free Welcomes Pastor J. Kroll

Members of Faith Evangelical Free Church, Mtn. Lake Park, recently welcomed a new pastor, Rev. Jeff Kroll.

Rev. Kroll has a master of divinity degree from Columbia Biblical Seminary, Columbia, S.C., and a bachelor of arts degree in speech communication from Penn State University.

For the past 8 years, he pastored a church in Worthington, Minn., and before that, he and his wife Vivian were missionaries with SIM for 14 years. Most of that time was spent in Bolivia. The Krolls have three grown sons, and both Jeff and Vivian are fluent in Spanish, as Vivian has worked as a Spanish interpreter.

Pastor Kroll believes his primary job is to help people to full maturity in Christ.

"I've learned so much from scripture, and I love seeing the light bulb go on for others too."

Rev. Kroll will be introduced to the congregation on Sunday, June 7, at 10:45 a.m. A nursery is available for small children, and there is also lesson time scheduled for elementary school-aged children during the service.

Driver Wrecks After Losing Control On Curve

A single-vehicle accident on Westernport Road was investigated by Garrett County sheriff's deputies early last Thursday morning. A Frostburg man and his passenger were both treated for their injuries at Cumberland Memorial Hospital.

Investigation determined that Michael Parnes, 18, had been traveling south, when he lost control of his vehicle, skidded off the roadway, and struck a large rock in the ditch.

Potomac Fire Company and Tri-Towns Ambulance also responded to the scene.

Parnes was charged with driving without a license and failure to reduce speed on a curve.

NRCS Organic Farming Initiative Sign-Up Extended

The Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Maryland has extended the application period for the new Organic Initiative under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) to June 26. NRCS Maryland received $376,000 in financial assistance funds under the initiative.

Farmers interested in this program need to contact their local NRCS office as soon as possible to begin the application process. Although NRCS accepts program applications on a continuous basis, only applications received by June 26, 2009, will be considered for funding under this special EQIP Organic Initiative.

The 2009 Organic Initiative is a nationwide special initiative to provide financial assistance to National Organic Program (NOP) certified organic producers, as well as producers in the process of transitioning to organic production. Organic producers may also apply for assistance under general EQIP.

There are six core practices eligible through this initiative. They are: conservation crop rotation; cover crop; nutrient management; pest management; prescribed grazing; and forage harvest management. Additional conservation practices will also be eligible under the EQIP Organic Initiative.

Interested producers are advised to visit their nearest USDA Service Center to determine eligibility. When farmers come into NRCS offices to apply, they should bring proof of farm ownership or control of the land and their farm's Organic System Plan.

Additional information on the 2009 EQIP Organic Initiative is available at: www.nrcs.usda.gov/programs/eqip/.

Second Pasture Walk Planned At Maier Farm

The second pasture walk in a series being conducted by the Mtn. Top Grazing Network will be held at the farm of Henry Maier of Oldtown on Tuesday, June 9, beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The Maier family uses rotational grazing to provide high quality feed for their draft horses. To do this, they manage a flexible hay and pasture system. The system incorporates warm and cool season grasses as well as "old school" technology that utilizes the horses for hay harvest.

Dr. Ed Rayburn, West

Virginia University Extension forage agronomist, will be the main speaker at the pasture walk. The main theme will be rotational grazing and managing on farm nutrients in a profitable manner.

The pasture walk series is providing the chance to producers interested in the grazing process to step onto the farms of other producers to see how they manage it.

A pasture walk will be held each month through November. For more information, persons may call Derrick Bender at the Allegany County Office of Maryland Cooperative Extension at 301-724-3320. Carpooling will be available from Garrett County, and persons should call 301-334-6960 to arrange it. The group will leave the Extension office at 5 p.m.

HARDESTY, SR.

5/31/68 - 6/5/08

Dad, my sadness knows no end;
I can't believe you're gone;
I'm grieving for you every day;
It's hard to carry on.

You were always there to support and care,
When I needed a true friend,
How I'll ever do without you, Dad,
I cannot comprehend.

You were my teacher and my guide,
My Dad, so good and strong;
Your example will sustain me now,
And last my whole life long.

I'm trying to communicate;
I hope that you can hear;
Expressing what I feel for you,
Helps me feel you're near.

My memories of the times we had
Help the pain to go away;
But Dad, my life is not the same;
I miss you every day.

A part of me went with you;
You left a gap too big to fill;
You're my father and my hero;
I love you and I always will.

Missing you always,
Love, Michael (and Hailey)

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT
Notice of Intent to Establish Total Maximum Daily Loads of Fecal Bacteria for the Cherry Creek Sub-basin in the Youghiogheny River Basin in Garrett County, Maryland
Section 303(d) of the federal Clean Water Act requires Maryland to: (1) identify waters, known as water quality limited segments (WQLSs), where technology-based effluent limitations and other required controls cannot achieve water quality standards; (2) for each listed water, establish Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDLs) for pollutants preventing the attainment of water quality standards; and (3) offer an opportunity for public review and comment on the proposed TMDLs.
Cherry Creek (basin number 05-02-02-01-00-02) and its tributaries were identified on the State's list of water quality limited segments (WQLSs) as impaired by fecal bacteria (listed in 2008) and impacts to biological communities (listed in 2002). This document proposes to establish a TMDL for fecal bacteria in the Cherry Creek watershed that will allow for attainment of the beneficial use designation of water contact recreation. The listing for impacts to biological communities will be addressed at a later date.
The TMDL sets the maximum load limit for the impairing substance. The TMDL also reflects potential load allocations to point sources, nonpoint sources, and a margin of safety that accounts for uncertainty in the procedures used to estimate the TMDLs. Once established by the State, the TMDL will be subject to approval by the United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA). The established TMDL will support measures needed to attain water quality standards in the Cherry Creek watershed.
OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLIC REVIEW AND COMMENT
A thirty-day public comment period for the draft document will take place from May 28, 2009, through June 26, 2009. A copy of the draft document has been placed in the Ruth Enlow Library of Garrett County, 6 N. Second Street, Oakland, MD 21550 (301-334-3996). The draft document is also available on MDE's web site at <http://www.mde.state.md.us/TMDL>, or by contacting Tom Thornton by mail at MDE/SSA, 1800 Washington Boulevard, Suite 540, Baltimore, MD 21230-1718 (410-537-3656); outside the Baltimore area, dial 1-800-633-6101, x3656. Anyone wishing to review the draft documents and supporting information or needing technical information may contact Mr. Thornton during normal business hours.
Written comments concerning the draft document may be submitted to the Department on or before June 26, 2009, and should be sent to Mr. Thornton at the above address or emailed to thornton@mde.state.md.us. If the Department determines there is sufficient interest, public hearings on the document may be held. All comments received during the comment period will be considered, and the draft document may be revised accordingly prior to its submittal to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for approval.

AMENDMENTS TO THE GARRETT COUNTY
WATER AND SEWERAGE MASTER PLAN

Town of Grantsville, Maryland
North Tract and East Tract Annexation of 2007
 Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Garrett County, Maryland, will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, June 16, 2009, at 9:00 a.m. in Room 209 at the Garrett County Courthouse located at 203 South Fourth Street, Oakland, Maryland, to consider amendments to the Garrett County Water and Sewerage Master Plan. Summaries of the proposed amendments are as follows:

North Tract Annexation
 In 2007, the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville annexed approximately 131.70 acres of land into the town limits known as the North Tract Annexation. The annexed area is located from the current town boundaries north along Dorsey Hotel Road to the Goodwill Retirement Community including Parcels 27 and 28, as referenced on Map 8 of the Maryland Department of Planning's property mapping system. It is the Town's intent to extend public water service to this area. Infrastructure to serve the North Tract will connect to the town's system on Miller Street, then east to Pennsylvania Avenue, then extend north on Pennsylvania Avenue and along the eastern property line of Parcel 28 to the Goodwill Retirement Community property. Sewer service for Parcels 27 and 28 will be the owner's/developer's expense and will connect to the town's system on Parkview Drive. The Goodwill Retirement Community is already served by public sewer through the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities.

East and Town Council of Grantsville
 In 2007, the Mayor and Town Council of Grantsville annexed approximately 74.93 acres of land into the town limits known as the East Tract Annexation. The annexed area includes parcels east of the existing town limits along Route 40/National Pike to River Road. It is the Town's intent to extend public water service to this area. Water lines to serve the East Tract will connect to the present town system behind the elementary school off School Alley. A new 12-inch line will run parallel with Interstate 68/National Freeway, cross through Parcel 60 to intersect with Route 40/National Pike, cross the Casselman River with a water main attached to the bridge, and extend along Route 40/National Pike to River Road. A 6-inch water main will be installed along River Road to the point where the roadway intersects the Casselman River. Public sewer service is provided to a portion of the East Tract by the Chestnut Ridge Sanitary District which is operated by the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities. The remaining portion of the annexed area is served by the Town of Grantsville or utilizes on-site sewage disposal.

Mapping of the annexed areas and the complete text of the proposed amendments can be obtained from the Garrett County Department of Public Utilities located at 2008 Maryland Highway, Suite 2, Mountain Lake Park, Maryland. Interested persons will be heard at the public hearing on Tuesday, June 16, 2009, in order to determine if incorporation of the proposed amendments will promote public health, safety and welfare in the annexed areas.

 County Administrator
